POLICY JUSTIFICATION

Korea - AIM-120 Advanced Medium Range Air-to-Air Missiles

The Government of Korea has requested the purchase of 100 AIM-120 Advanced Medium Range Air-to-Air Missiles (AMRAAM), missile containers, spare and repair parts, support and test equipment, software support, publications and technical documentation, U.S. Government and contractor technical assistance and other related elements of logistics and program support. The estimated cost is $53 million.

This sale will contribute to the foreign policy and national security of the United States by helping to improve the security of a friendly country which has been and continues to be an important force for political stability and economic progress in the Pacific region.

The sale of these missiles will augment current procurement programs, provide an opportunity for Korea to strengthen its air-to-air defensive capability and enhance interoperability with U.S. forces. Korea, which already has AMRAAM in its inventory, will have no difficulty absorbing these additional missiles.

The sale of this equipment and support will not affect the basic military balance in the region.

The principal contractors will be Hughes Missile Systems Company, Tucson, Arizona or Raytheon Company, Bedford, Massachusetts. There are no offset agreements proposed to be entered into in connection with this potential sale.

Implementation of this sale will not require the assignment of any additional U.S. Government personnel or contractor representatives to Korea.

There will be no adverse impact on U.S. defense readiness as a result of this sale.
