Notice of Inventory Completion for Native American Human Remains from South Dakota in the Possession of the Fruitlands Museums, Harvard, MA

AGENCY: National Park Service
ACTION: Notice

Notice is hereby given in accordance with provisions of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), 25 U.S.C. 3003 (d), of the completion of an inventory of human remains in the possession of the Fruitlands Museums, Harvard, MA.

A detailed inventory and assessment of the human remains has been made by Fruitlands Museums professional staff in consultation with representatives of the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe, Oglala Sioux Tribe, and Rosebud Sioux Tribe.

The human remains consist of the scalp and hair of a single individual. The scalp was purchased by the museum in 1937 from Mr. F.R. Milner. Mr. Milner identified the scalp as that of Bad Hand which was taken on August 6, 1876 by Harry Young fifty miles northwest of Deadwood, South Dakota. Mr. Young's account of taking the scalp was documented in his book Hard Knocks (1915) Wells and Co., Portland, OR.

Consultation with representatives of the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe, Oglala Sioux Tribe, and Rosebud Sioux Tribe reveal that while the Bad Hand family name is present among both Oglala

Sioux and Rosebud Sioux tribal members, a direct and unbroken line of ancestry between these human remains and a particular lineal descendant cannot be established and all attempts to contact lineal descendants have produced no results. Representatives of the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe, the Oglala Sioux Tribe and the Rosebud Sioux Tribe have identified the Rosebud Sioux Tribe as having the strongest cultural affiliation with these remains.

Based on the above mentioned information, Fruitlands Museums officials have determined, pursuant to 43 CFR 10 (d)(1), that the human remains listed above represent the physical remains of one individual of Native American ancestry. Officials of the Fruitlands Museums have also determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001 (2), there is a relationship of shared group identity which can be reasonably traced between the human remains and the Rosebud Sioux Tribe.

This notice has been sent to officials of the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe, Oglala Sioux Tribe, and Rosebud Sioux Tribe. Notice was also published in Indian Country Today and Todd County Times on September 5, 1996. Any lineal descendant or Indian tribe that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with these human remains should contact Michael A. Volmar, Curator, Fruitlands Museum, Harvard, MA 01451, phone: (508) 456-3924, before October 31, 1996. Repatriation of these human remains to the Rosebud Sioux Tribe may begin after that date if no additional claimants come forward.

Dated: September 25, 1996,

Francis P. McManamon,
*Departmental Consulting Archeologist,
Manager, Archeology and Ethnography
Program.*
