Analysis of Proposed Consent Order To Aid Public Comment

The Federal Trade Commission has accepted an agreement to a proposed consent order from Global World Media Corporation ("GWMC"), the marketer of Herbal Ecstasy or Ecstasy ("Ecstasy"), and its owner, Sean Shayan [hereinafter sometimes referred to as respondents].

The proposed consent order has been placed on the public record for sixty (60) days for reception of public comments by interested persons. Comments received during this period will become part of the public record. After sixty (60) days, the Commission will again review the agreement and the comments received and will decide whether it should withdraw from the agreement or make final the agreement's proposed order.

The Commission's complaint in this matter concerns safety claims respondents made in advertising for Ecstasy, a dietary supplement that respondents promoted as a natural "high" and expressly likened to the illegal street drug MDMA. More specifically, the complaint alleges that respondents represented that Ecstasy, when taken in the recommended doses or other reasonably foreseeable amounts, is absolutely safe and has no side effects. The complaint explains that Ecstasy contains a botanical source of ephedrine alkaloids, which can have dangerous effects on the nervous system and heart. Thus, according to the complaint, the claim that Ecstasy is safe and side effect free is both false and unsubstantiated.

In addition, the complaint charges that respondents represented in their advertising for Ecstasy, including in ads that ran on cable programming stations with substantial youth audiences, such as Nickelodeon and MTV, that Ecstasy is a safe alternative to illegal drugs to produce euphoric, psychotropic (mind-altering), or sexual enhancement effects, but failed to disclose the health and safety risks of using the product. According to the complaint the undisclosed facts would be material to consumers and, therefore, respondents' omission of the facts about the health and safety risks of Ecstasy in their advertising is alleged to be a deceptive practice.

Finally, the complaint challenges an endorsement of Ecstasy's safety and lack of side effects contained in respondents' advertising and attributed to a Dr. Steven Jonson of Tel Aviv, Israel. According to the complaint, the endorsement is false because Dr. Jonson is a fictitious person.

The proposed consent order contains provisions designed to remedy the violations charged and to prevent respondents from engaging in similar acts and practices in the future.

Part I of the order prohibits (1) claims that Ecstasy or any other food, drug, or dietary supplement is safe or will cause no side effects; or (2) any other safety or
