DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Fish and Wildlife Service

50 CFR Parts 25 and 32

RIN 1018-AE18

1997-98 Refuge-Specific Hunting and Sport Fishing Regulations

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule adds additional national wildlife refuges to the list of areas open for hunting and/or sport fishing, along with pertinent refuge-specific regulations for such activities; and amends certain regulations on other refuges that pertain to migratory game bird hunting, upland game hunting, big game hunting and sport fishing.

DATES: This rule is effective September 9, 1997.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Stephen R. Vehrs, (703) 358-2397.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Refuge hunting and fishing programs are reviewed annually to determine whether additional refuges should be added or whether individual refuge regulations governing existing programs should be modified, deleted or have additions made to them. Changing environmental conditions, State and Federal regulations, and other factors affecting wildlife populations and habitat may warrant modifications ensuring continued compatibility of hunting and fishing with the purposes for which individual refuges, and the National Wildlife Refuge System (System) were established.

The Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) has determined uses in this final rule are compatible with the purposes for which these refuges were established. The Service further determined that this action is in accordance with the provisions of all applicable laws, is consistent with principles of sound fish and wildlife management, helps implement Executive Orders 12996 (Management and Public Use of the National Wildlife Refuge System) and 12962 (Recreational Fisheries) and is otherwise in the public interest by providing additional recreational opportunities at national wildlife refuges. Sufficient funds will be available within the refuge budgets to operate the hunting and sport fishing programs.

The Service generally closes national wildlife refuges to hunting and sport fishing until opened by rulemaking. The Secretary of the Interior (Secretary) may open refuge areas to hunting and/or fishing upon a determination that such uses are compatible with the purpose(s) for which the refuge was established. The action also must be in accordance with provisions of all laws applicable to the areas, must be consistent with the principles of sound fish and wildlife management, and otherwise must be in the public interest.

50 CFR parts 25 and 32 contain administrative provisions and other provisions governing hunting and fishing on national wildlife refuges. Hunting and fishing are regulated on refuges to:

- Ensure compatibility with refuge and System purposes;
- Properly manage the fish and wildlife resource;
- Protect other refuge values; and
- Ensure refuge user safety.

On many refuges, the Service policy of adopting State hunting and fishing regulations is adequate in meeting these objectives. On other refuges, it is necessary to supplement State regulations with more restrictive Federal regulations to ensure that the Service meets its management responsibilities, as outlined under the section entitled "Statutory Authority." The Service issues refuge-specific hunting and fishing regulations when opening a national wildlife refuge to either migratory game bird hunting, upland game hunting, big game hunting or sport fishing. These regulations list the wildlife species that may be hunted or are subject to sport fishing, seasons, bag limits, methods of hunting or fishing, descriptions of open areas, and other provisions as appropriate. Previously issued refuge-specific regulations for hunting and fishing are contained in 50 CFR part 32. Many of the amendments to these sections are promulgated to standardize and clarify the existing language of these regulations.

With the passage of Public Law 102-402, the Rocky Mountain Arsenal National Wildlife Refuge Act of 1992 (Act), the Service will establish a refuge over what was previously a Department of Defense (Army) military installation, but only following toxic substances cleanup.

Public Law 102-402 specifies that the Service shall manage the area as if it were a unit of the National Wildlife Refuge System during cleanup activities on the Rocky Mountain Arsenal (Arsenal). The Service amends these regulations to establish regulatory authority for these lands, before establishment as a refuge and inclusion in the System, in accordance with Public Law 102-402. These regulations will provide appropriate authority and jurisdiction to conduct necessary management actions, including law enforcement, at the Arsenal.

In the July 21, 1997, issue of the Federal Register (62 FR 38959-38969) the Service published a proposed rulemaking identifying the refuges, their proposed hunting and/or fishing programs and invited public comment. The Service received the following comments based on the proposed rule:

The Animal Protection Institute, a national animal advocacy organization with more than 75,000 members, submitted the following comments: Refuges were established by Theodore Roosevelt in 1903 to protect wildlife and their habitats. As sanctuaries for rare, threatened and endangered species, the System provides some of the last undisturbed habitat for recovery of endangered species. Hunting is incompatible with these goals, as it is both disruptive and poses a danger to non-target wildlife. The System harbors 168 threatened or endangered species, although 60 percent of refuges support activities harmful to wildlife, according to surveys conducted by the Service and the General Accounting Office.

The comments went on to state: The majority of people who visit refuges do so to observe wildlife and enjoy nature. According to the Service, of the 30 million people who visited refuges last year, 21 million visited for wildlife observation and "just to experience nature," while only 1.4 million visited to hunt. Clearly, non-consumptive users of the System far outweigh consumptive users. Hunters already have access to millions of acres of public lands outside the refuges for their activities. Hikers, bird watchers, campers and photographers should not have to fear the dangers of a stray bullet as they enjoy our public lands or witness the maiming of the very wildlife they have come to see. The Service should manage the System to carry out its stated mission—to protect wildlife and wildlife habitat and to offer people an opportunity to enjoy nature and disallow hunting on all refuges as the practice runs contrary to these goals.

The Service received over 2,300 signed resolutions and fourteen additional letters with similar concerns as those expressed by the Animal Protection Institute, and one individual letter in support of hunting on refuges.

The Service reviewed the above comments regarding a proposed closure to hunting, trapping and/or fishing on refuges. Throughout its history, the System has experienced misconceptions about the purpose, mission, statutory authorities and appropriate public uses. The Service considers annually a wide range of alternatives at each refuge while trying to improve upon consumptive use programs with a minimum impact to bird watchers, photographers, sportsmen, and general refuge users.

In accordance with Executive Order 12996 (Management and Public Use of the National Wildlife Refuge System), the conservation mission and first obligation of the System is to preserve a national network of lands and waters for the conservation and management of fish, wildlife, and plant resources of the United States for the benefit of present and future generations. However, the Service recognizes wildlife-dependent recreational activities, when compatible with the purposes for which a refuge was established, as priority general public uses within the System. In particular, the Service especially recognizes compatible hunting, fishing, wildlife observation, photography, and environmental education and interpretation.

Hunting and fishing on refuges is specifically authorized by the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act and is an acceptable, traditional form of wildlife-dependent recreation that is used as a management tool to manipulate wildlife population levels. We conduct recreational hunting and fishing today within limits purposefully developed to ensure the long-term welfare and status of several animal populations. Harvests on refuges constitute a very small part of the overall harvest of animals in the United States. In the case of waterfowl, the annual refuge harvest is about 2-5 percent of the national total harvest. Sport harvest management has achieved a high degree of scientific rigor and people throughout the world regard the Refuge System as a leader in scientific harvest management.

Refuges provide free or low cost hunting opportunity to hunters unable to afford the escalating costs to hunt on private lands. Hunters alone, have bought more than $400 million in Federal "Duck Stamps" since 1934, sufficient to purchase nearly one-third of all refuges outside Alaska—some 4 million acres. Refuges also serve as a focal point for sportsmen education and the development of ethical behavior.

The Service also received a request on the behalf of The Fund for Animals to extend the comment period on the proposal to permit bison hunting on the National Elk Refuge. The Service has agreed to extend the comment period to September 19, 1997 on that particular issue and has deleted that amendment from these regulations.

This rule is effective upon publication. The Service has determined that any further delay in implementing these refuge-specific hunting and sport fishing regulations would not be in the public interest in that it would hinder the effective planning and administration of the hunting and fishing programs. The Service received public comment on these proposals during the 30-day comment period. An additional 30 day delay would jeopardize holding the hunting and/or fishing programs this year, or shorten their duration and thereby lessen the management effectiveness of this regulation. Therefore, the Service finds good cause to make this rule effective upon publication (5 U.S.C. 553(d)(3)).

Statutory Authority

The National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act (NWRSA) of 1966, as amended (16 U.S.C. 668dd), and the Refuge Recreation Act of 1962 (16 U.S.C. 460k) govern the administration and public use of national wildlife refuges. Specifically, section 4(d)(1)(A) of the NWRSA authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to permit the use of any area within the System for any purpose, including but not limited to, hunting, fishing and public recreation, accommodations and access, when he determines that uses are compatible with the major purpose(s) for which the area was established.

The Refuge Recreation Act (RRA) authorizes the Secretary to administer areas within the System for public recreation as an appropriate incidental or secondary use only to the extent that it is practicable and not inconsistent with the primary purpose(s) for which the areas were established. The NWRSA and the RRA also authorize the Secretary to issue regulations to carry out the purposes of the Acts and regulate uses.

The Service develops hunting and sport fishing plans for each existing refuge before opening it to hunting or fishing. In many cases, we develop refuge-specific regulations to ensure the compatibility of the programs with the purposes for which the refuge was established. Initial compliance with the NWRSA and the RRA has been ensured for hunting and sport fishing on newly acquired refuges through an interim determination of compatibility made at the time of acquisition. This has ensured that the determinations required by these acts have been made before the addition of refuges to the lists of areas open to hunting and fishing in 50 CFR part 32. Continued compliance is ensured by the development of long-term hunting and sport fishing plans and by annual review of hunting and sport fishing programs and regulations.

In preparation for these openings, the following documents are included in the refuge's "openings package" for Regional review and approval from the Washington Office: an interim hunting and fishing management plan; an environmental action memorandum and categorical exclusion certification; a Section 7 determination pursuant to the Endangered Species Act, that these openings will have no effect, or are not likely to have an adverse effect, on listed species or critical habitats; a letter of concurrence from the affected State; interim compatibility determination; and refuge-specific regulations to administer the hunting and/or fishing programs. Upon review of these documents, the Service, acting for the Secretary, has determined that the opening of these National Wildlife Refuges to hunting and fishing is compatible with the principles of sound fish and wildlife management and otherwise will be in the public interest.

The following refuges establish new hunting and/or fishing openings: Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Colorado; Ten Thousand Islands National Wildlife Refuge, Florida; Black Bayou Lake National Wildlife Refuge, Louisiana; Fort Niobrara National Wildlife Refuge, Nebraska; and Balcones Canyonlands National Wildlife Refuge, Texas. The remaining regulations represent revisions to existing refuge specific regulations.

In accordance with the NWRSA and the RRA, the Service has determined that these openings are compatible and consistent with the primary purposes for which the refuge was established. The Service also has determined that funds are available to administer the program.

Paperwork Reduction Act

These regulations have been examined under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 and have been found to contain no information collection requirements.

Economic Effect

Service review has revealed that this rulemaking will increase hunter and angler visitation to the surrounding area of the refuges before, during or after the recreational uses, compared to the refuge being closed to these recreational uses.

These refuges generally are located away from large metropolitan areas. Businesses in the area of the refuges consist primarily of small family-owned stores, restaurants, gas stations and other small commercial enterprises. In addition, there are several small, commercial recreational fishing and hunting camps and marinas in the general areas. This final rule will have a positive effect on such entities; however, the amount of revenue generated is not large.

Many area residents enjoy a rural lifestyle that includes frequent recreational use of the abundant natural resources of the area. A high percentage of the households enjoy hunting, fishing, and boating in area wetlands, rivers and lakes. Refuge lands generally were not available for general public use before government acquisition; however, they were fished and hunted upon by friends and relatives of the landowners, and some were under commercial hunting and fishing leases. Many nearby residents also participate in other forms of non-consumptive outdoor recreation, such as biking, hiking, camping, birdwatching, canoeing, and other outdoor sports.

Economic impacts of refuge fishing and hunting programs on local communities are calculated from average expenditures in the "1996 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting, and Wildlife-Associated Recreation". In 1996, 39 million U.S. residents 16 years old and older hunted and/or fished. More specifically, 35.2 million fished and 14 million hunted. Those who both fished and hunted account for the 10.2 million overage. Nationwide expenditures by sportsmen totaled $72 billion. Trip-related expenditures for food, lodging, and transportation were $14 billion or 19.4 percent of all fishing and hunting expenditures; equipment expenditures amounted to $44.2 billion, or 61.4 percent of the total; other expenditures such as those for magazines, membership dues, contributions, land leasing, ownership, licenses, stamps, tags, and permits accounted for $13.8 billion, or 19.2 percent of all expenditures. Overall, anglers spent an average of $41 per day. For each day of hunting, migratory bird hunters spent an average of $33, upland game hunters an average of $20, and big game hunters averaged spending $40.

At these 72 National Wildlife Refuges included in this final regulation, 776,000 anglers are estimated to spend $31.8 million annually in pursuit of their sport, while approximately 380,000 hunters will spend $12.5 million annually hunting on the refuges. While many of these anglers and hunters already make such expenditures before the refuge opening, some of these additional expenditures directly are due to the land now being open to the general public.

This rulemaking will have a small but positive impact on local economies by increasing visitation and expenditures in the surrounding area of the refuges. The Service has determined that this rulemaking would not have a significant effect on a substantial number of small entities in the area, such as businesses, organizations and governmental jurisdictions, under the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). This rulemaking was not subject to Office of Management and Budget review under Executive Order 12866.

Unfunded Mandates

The Service has determined and certifies pursuant to the Unfunded Mandates Act, 2 U.S.C. 1502 et seq., that this rulemaking will not impose a cost of $100 million or more in any given year on local or State governments or private entities.

Civil Justice Reform

The Department has determined that these final regulations meet the applicable standards provided in Sections 3(a) and 3(b)(2) of Executive Order 12988.

Environmental Considerations

The Service ensures compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) (42 U.S.C. 4332(C)) when developing hunting and sport fishing plans, and the determinations required by NEPA are made before the addition of refuges to the lists of areas open to hunting and fishing in 50 CFR part 32. The changes in hunting and fishing herein were reviewed with regard to Section 7 of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1531–1543) and found to either have no effect on or are not likely to adversely affect listed species or critical habitat. The amendment of refuge-specific hunting and fishing regulations are subject to a categorical exclusion from the NEPA process if they do not significantly alter the existing use of a particular national wildlife refuge. The Service exclusion found at 516 DM 6, App. 1.4B(5) is employed here as these amendments are considered "[m]inor changes in the amounts or types of public use on FWS or State-managed lands, in accordance with regulations, management plans, and procedures." These refuge-specific hunting and fishing regulations simply qualify or otherwise define a hunting or fishing activity, for purposes of resource management. These documents are on file in Service offices and may be viewed by contacting the primary author noted below.
