Workshops on Forward-Looking Cost Mechanisms for Universal Service Support for Non-Rural Carriers, September 3 and September 11, 1997

Released August 28, 1997.

[CC Docket Nos. 96-45 and 97-160]

In the Universal Service Order released May 8, 1997, the Commission, acting on the recommendation of the Federal-State Joint Board, concluded that universal service support for non-rural carriers should be determined by subtracting a benchmark revenue amount from the forward-looking economic cost of providing the supported services.¹ The Commission concluded that it should continue to review two cost models, the Hatfield Model and the Benchmark Cost Proxy Model (BCPM).² The Commission further concluded that it would select the platform design features³ of a forward-looking economic cost mechanism by December 31, 1997, and select a complete mechanism, including input values, by August 1998.⁴ In a Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (FNPRM) in this proceeding, the Commission stated that it would consider a hybrid mechanism, combining the best features of both models, and might also "study alternative algorithms and approaches that could be submitted by parties other than model sponsors or that could be generated internally by Commission staff."⁵

² The proponents of the Hatfield Model are AT&T and MCI. The proponents of BCPM are US West, Sprint, and BellSouth. See Order at Appendix J for a description of the Hatfield Model and BCPM.

As part of the process of considering mechanisms for computing the forward-looking economic cost of providing the supported services, the Common Carrier Bureau will hold two public workshops to present platform components that are being developed by Commission staff. The Bureau is considering whether these platform components should be incorporated into a forward-looking economic cost mechanism as replacements for the components presently used in the Hatfield Model or BCPM.

The first workshop will present the staff's ideas for an approach to determining customer location. This workshop will be held on Wednesday, September 3, 1997, from 4:00–6:00 pm in the FCC Training Room, 2000 M Street, N.W. (Lobby Level), Room 110, Washington, D.C. 20554. The second workshop will present the staff's ideas for an approach to modeling outside plant investment. This workshop will be held on Thursday, September 11, 1997, from 10:00 am–12:00 noon in the Commission Meeting Room, 1919 M Street, NW, Room 856, Washington, D.C. 20554. Interested parties may attend the workshops. The workshops also will be recorded on video, and copies of the videotapes will be available in the Commission Reference Room, 1919 M Street, N.W., Room 239, Washington, D.C. 20554.

We solicit comment on the algorithms and approaches presented in the workshops. Pursuant to applicable procedures set forth in §§ 1.415 and 1.419 of the Commission's rules, 47 CFR 1.415 and 1.419, interested parties may file comments on the September 3 customer location workshop on or before September 10, 1997, and may file
