DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIORNational Park Service*Notice of Inventory Completion for Native American Human Remains and Associated Funerary Objects from Idaho County, ID in Possession of the Cottonwood District Office, Bureau of Land Management, Cottonwood, ID

AGENCY: National Park Service.

ACTION: Notice.

Notice is hereby given in accordance with provisions of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), 43 CFR 10.9, of the completion of an inventory of human remains and associated funerary objects from Idaho County, ID that are in possession of the Cottonwood District Office, Bureau of Land Management (BLM), Cottonwood, ID.

A detailed assessment of the human remains and associated funerary objects from Idaho County, ID was made by the Bureau of Land Management professional staff in consultation with the Nez Perce Tribe of Idaho.

In 1963, human remains representing two individuals were recovered from site 10IH57, Idaho County, ID during legally authorized excavations by Idaho State University personnel prior to the construction of Idaho State Highway 95 through the site. No known individuals were identified. The minimum of 350 associated funerary objects includes beads, glass, mirrors, bracelets, cloth, wood, rings, nails, iron hooks, hoops, shells, and non-human bone.

Based on the associated funerary objects, these human remains have been determined to be Native American from the historic period. Continuities of material culture, ethnographic information, and historical documents indicate the Nez Perce Tribe of Idaho has occupied this area from precontact times into the historic period.

Based on the above-mentioned information, officials of the Bureau of Land Management have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(1), the human remains listed above represent the physical remains of two individuals of Native American ancestry. Officials of the Bureau of Land Management have also determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(2), the minimum of 350 objects listed above are reasonably believed to have been placed with or near the individual human remains at the time of death or later as part of the death rite or ceremony. Lastly, officials of the Bureau of Land Management have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR

10.2 (e), there is a relationship of shared group identity that can be reasonably traced between these Native American human remains and associated funerary objects and the Nez Perce Tribe of Idaho.

This notice has been sent to officials of the Nez Perce Tribe of Idaho. Representatives of any other tribe that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with these human remains and associated funerary objects should contact Dave Sisson, Cottonwood District Office, BLM, Route 3, Box 181, Cottonwood, ID 83522; telephone: (208) 962-3782 before April 8, 1998. Repatriation of the human remains and associated funerary objects to the Nez Perce Tribe of Idaho may begin after that date if no additional claimants come forward.

The National Park Service is not responsible for the determinations within this notice.

Dated: March 3, 1998.

Manager, Archeology and Ethnography

Notice of Intent to Repatriate Cultural Items in the Possession of the Rhode Island Historical Society, Providence, RI

AGENCY: National Park Service.

ACTION: Notice.

Notice is hereby given under the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act, 43 CFR 10.10 (a)(3), of the intent to repatriate cultural items in the possession of the Rhode Island Historical Society which meet the definition of "unassociated funerary objects" under Section 2 of the Act.

The four objects are a soapstone bowl, two soapstone bowl fragments, and a string of whelk shell beads. The accession information regarding these objects has been lost since the date of acquisition.

Consultation evidence provided by representatives of the Narragansett Indian Tribe indicates the soapstone bowl is used for the Ceremony of the Green Corn, and would also be used in baptismal ceremonies. Consultation evidence provided by representatives of the Narragansett Indian Tribe also indicates that the inclusion of soapstone bowls, soapstone bowl fragments and whelk shell beads is consistent with traditional Narragansett burial practice.

The three objects from Westerly, RI are glass bottles, beads, and a wampum bracelet. Museum documentation indicates they were recovered in 1835 from burials at the railhead site in Westerly, RI; and were purchased by the Rhode Island Historical Society from Mr. Chesebrough that same year.

Based on funerary objects, this railhead site has been determined to be a Narragansett burial site during the historic period (approximately 16th century until the late 1600s). Historical documents and archeological evidence indicates this area was occupied by the Narragansett Indian Tribe during this period.

The 19 objects from Charlestown, RI are pewter latten spoons, glass rum bottles, a sword handle, copper pots, glass vials, a flute, gold effigy comb, man's gold ring, a disk, a stove ornament and hanging chain, two silver thimbles, a copper snuff box, a copper spoon, strings of glass beads, and loose glass beads. Museum documentation indicates these objects were excavated from the burial site in 1859; and were given to the Rhode Island Historical Society in 1877 by C.W. Parsons and Charles Cross, as well as other members of the Society.

The site from which these objects were taken is a historically documented Narragansett burial site stated to be the grave of Princess Weunquesh, a daughter of Ninigret who died about 1660. The type and style of these objects date from that era. No human remains from this grave are in the possession of the Rhode Island Historical Society.

The 14 objects from Charlestown, RI are pewter latten spoons. Museum documentation regarding the accession of these objects by the Rhode Island Historical Society has been lost.

The site from which these objects were taken is a historically documented Narragansett burial site stated to be the grave of the second (unmarried) daughter of Ninigret who died in 1660. The type and style of these objects date from that era. No human remains from this grave are in the possession of the Rhode Island Historical Society.

The 24 objects from the Arnolda site in Charlestown, RI are a 16th century Portuguese cannon, four blocks of ochre, 12 pipes and pipe fragments, a sword fragment, a buckshot mold, two glass rods, glass beads, and three ceramic sherds. Museum documentation indicates these objects were excavated in 1921 and 1925 from burials from the Arnolda site on the property of J. Arnold and were donated to the Rhode Island Historical Society about 1925.

The Arnolda site is a historically documented Narragansett burial site used during the historic era, based on manner of interment and the types of funerary objects present.

Based on the above-mentioned information, officials of the Rhode Island Historical Society have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(2)(ii), these 64 cultural items are reasonably believed to have been placed with or near individual human remains at the time of death or later as part of the death rite or ceremony and are believed, by a preponderance of the evidence, to have been removed from a specific burial site of an Native American individual. Officials of the Rhode Island Historical Society have also determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (e), there is a relationship of shared group identity which can be reasonably traced between these 64 items and the Narragansett Indian Tribe.

This notice has been sent to officials of the Narragansett Indian Tribe. Representatives of any other Indian tribe that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with these objects should contact Linda Eppich, Curator, or Albert T. Klyberg, Director, Rhode Island Historical Society, 110 Benevolent St., Providence, RI 02906, telephone: (401) 331-8575 before April 8, 1998. Repatriation of these objects to the Narragansett Indian Tribe may begin after that date if no additional claimants come forward.

The National Park Service is not responsible for the determinations within this notice.
