Public Health Service

National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences; Notice of Workshop on “Characterizing the Effects of Endocrine Disruptors on Human Health At Environmental Exposure Levels”

The workshop will be held in the Brownstone Hotel, Raleigh, North Carolina on May 11–13, 1998, from 9:00 am to 5:30 pm on May 11th, from 8:30 am to 5:30 pm on May 12th, and from 8:30 am to 12:30 pm on May 13th.

Background and Workshop Goals

Evaluating potential low dose risks of endocrine disruptors is a major challenge for the risk assessment community. Most important is how to incorporate mechanistic information that will lead to biologically based and scientifically credible low-dose extrapolations. This workshop was organized to provide a forum for discussion of methods and data needs to improve risk assessments of endocrine disruptors, with special emphasis on characterizing potential health effects at low doses (environmental levels). The Workshop will focus on how to make better use of current knowledge on endocrine signaling pathways to understand and quantify perturbations induced by endocrine disrupting agents that lead to adverse health effects (reproductive and developmental toxicity, neurotoxicity, immunotoxicity, or cancer) and to specifically address exposures and perturbations at critical stages of development. Research needs will be identified within the framework of a risk assessment approach and a final workshop report to be published in the open scientific literature will include recommendations and guidance on how to incorporate mechanistic information into low-dose extrapolations.

Workshop Topics

To address the workshop objectives, six breakout group topics have been identified:

- Homeostasis and endocrine function in adults
- Endocrine function during development
- Species variability, interindividual variability, and tissue specificity
- Dose-response models that link xenobiotic-induced perturbations in endocrine signaling pathways with tissue response in adults and during development
- Case study: estimating risk from exposure to DES
- Case study: estimating risk from environmental exposure to PCBs

Invited participants will lead the discussions in each breakout group. Outside observers from the public sector are welcome with attendance limited by space available.

Central Utah Project Completion Act; Spanish Fork Canyon-Nephi Irrigation System, Bonneville Unit, Central Utah Project

AGENCIES: The Department of the Interior (Department); the Central Utah Water Conservancy District (CUWCD); and the Utah Reclamation Mitigation and Conservation Commission (Mitigation Commission).

ACTION: Notice of availability of the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (Draft EIS).

SUMMARY: Pursuant to section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) of 1969, as amended, the Department, the CUWCD, and the Mitigation Commission have issued a Draft EIS for the Spanish Fork Canyon-Nephi Irrigation System (SFN System). The Draft EIS analyzes alternatives and impacts associated with construction, operation, and delivery of water for irrigation and municipal and industrial (M&I) uses in southern Utah County and irrigation uses in eastern Juab County. The Draft EIS also discusses proposed changes in the operation of the partially constructed Diamond Fork System. The two systems are interdependent in layout and operation. Since NEPA was completed on the Diamond Fork System in 1990, the operation and components of the Diamond Fork System have changed slightly.

With the filing of this Draft EIS, related draft technical reports are incorporated into the Draft EIS by reference and are available for review. These reports provide detailed information in support of the Draft EIS. Also available for review, although not part of the Draft EIS, is the draft supplement to the 1988 Bonneville Unit Definite Plan Report (Draft DPR Supplement) and associated appendices. The Draft DPR Supplement and appendices are prepared pursuant to the Central Utah Project Completion Act and present the completion plan for the Bonneville Unit of the Central Utah Project.

Public participation has occurred throughout the Draft EIS process. A Notice of Intent was filed in the Federal Register on December 31, 1992. Since that time, scoping meetings, open houses, public meetings, tours, and mailouts have been conducted to solicit comments and ideas. Any comments received throughout the process have been considered.

DATES: Written comments on the Draft EIS must be submitted or postmarked no later than June 15, 1998. Comments on the Draft EIS may also be presented verbally or submitted in writing at the public hearings to be held at the following times and locations:

- May 11, 1998 6:30 p.m., Salt Lake County Commission Chambers, 2001 South State Street, Room N1100, Salt Lake City, Utah.
- May 12, 1998 6:30 p.m., Santaquin City Seniors Center, 65 West 100 South, Santaquin, Utah.

In order to be included as part of the hearing record, written testimony must be submitted at the time of the hearing. Verbal testimony will be limited to 5 minutes. Those wishing to give testimony at a hearing should submit a registration form, included at the end of the Draft EIS, to the address listed below by May 8, 1998.
