REVISION— Notice of Inventory Completion for Native American
Human Remains, Associated Funerary
Objects, and Unassociated Funerary
Objects in the Control of the United States Marine Corps, Department of the Navy, Honolulu, HI; and in the Possession of the Bernice Pauahi
Bishop Museum, Honolulu, HI

AGENCY: National Park Service. ACTION: Notice.

Notice is hereby given in accordance with provisions of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), 43 CFR 10.9, of the completion of an inventory of human remains, associated funerary objects, and unassociated funerary objects in the control of the United States Marine Corps, Department of the Navy, Honolulu, HI; and in the possession of the Bernice Pauahi Bishop Museum, Honolulu, HI. This notice replaces the Notice of Inventory Completion published February 28, 1994.

A detailed assessment of the human remains was made by United States Marine Corps and Bishop Museum professional staff in consultation with representatives of Hui Malama I Na Kupuna O Hawai'i Nei and the Office of Hawaiian Affairs.

Between 1915 and 1932, prior to Federal control of Tract 1 on Mokapu, human remains representing five individuals from the Heleloa sand dunes on the Mokapu peninsula were donated to the Bishop Museum by unknown donor(s). No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

During 1938-1940, prior to Federal control of Tract 3 on Mokapu, human remains representing 799 individuals were recovered from He'eia sand dunes on Mokapu, during legally authorized excavations conducted by Gordon T. Bowles of the University of Hawaii and Kenneth P. Emory of the Bishop Museum. No known individuals were identified. The 61 associated funerary objects include kupe'e, basalt flakes, marine shells, kukui nuts, and the bones of fish, birds, pigs, dogs, and turtles. During 1939-1940, human remains representing 184 individuals were removed from the Heleloa sand dunes, Mokapu during legally authorized excavations conducted by Gordon T. Bowles of the University of Hawaii and Kenneth P. Emory of the Bishop Museum; and donated to the Bishop Museum. No known individuals were identified. The 13 associated funerary objects include kupe'e, basalt flakes, marine shells, kukui nuts, and the bones of fish, birds, pigs, dogs, and turtles.

In 1942, human remains representing 222 individuals from Mokapu and other locations on O'ahu were donated to the Bishop Museum by unknown persons. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are

In 1957, human remains representing 186 individuals were recovered from the Heleloa sand dunes, Mokapu, O'ahu during legally authorized excavations conducted by Robert N. Bowen of the University of Hawaii. No known individuals were identified. The 42 associated funerary objects include a dog tooth pendant; basalt flakes; bones of fish, bird and an unidentified mammal; and a bullet casing.

In 1975, human remains representing 108 individuals were recovered during a construction project on Ulupa'u, Mokapu. No known individuals were identified. The 118 associated funerary objects include kupe'e; calcite, shell, and whale bone pendants; bone and shell buttons; a metal ring; ivory beads; bone; glass; metal nails; and metal parts of a smoking pipe.

During 1952–1993, human remains representing 78 individuals from unknown locations were donated to the Bishop Museum from unknown sources, and curated as "isolated burials" within the Mokapu collection. No known individuals were identified. The 21 associated funerary objects include basalt flakes; bones of fish, bird, and mammals; coral; marine shell; and a kukui nut.

A total of 30 cultural items from the Federal lands of Mokapu including six pendants, basalt flakes, fish scales, a soil sample, glass and bone beads, bone buttons, a wood smoking pipe, nails, a kupe'e, and shell and bone fragments were recovered during the 1938–1940, 1939–1940, 1957, and 1975 excavations referenced above. Although not recorded with any specific burials, these cultural items are consistent with the cultural items associated with human remains.

Based on skeletal and cranial morphology, dentition, style and type of associated funerary objects, manner of interments, and recovery locations, the human remains listed above have been determined to be Native Hawaiian. In consultation with Native Hawaiian organizations, the U.S. Marine Corps and the Bishop Museum decided that no attempt would be made to determine the age of the human remains. The various ohana, or families, listed below are Native Hawaiian organizations under 43 CFR 10.2 (a)(3)(I).

Based on the above mentioned information, officials of the U.S. Marine Corps and the Bishop Museum have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(1), the human remains listed above represent the physical remains of a minimum of 1,582 individuals of Native American ancestry. Officials of the U.S. Marine Corps and the Bishop Museum have also determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(2), the 251 objects listed above are reasonably believed to have been placed with or near individual human remains at the time of death or later as part of the death rite or ceremony. Officials of the U.S. Marine Corps and the Bishop Museum have further determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(2)(ii), these 30 cultural items are reasonably believed to have been placed with or near individual human remains at the time of death or later as part of the death rite or ceremony and are believed, by a preponderance of the evidence, to have been removed from a specific burial site of an Native American individual. Lastly, officials of the U.S. Marine Corps and the Bishop Museum have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (e), there is a relationship of shared group identity which can be reasonably traced between these Native American human remains, associated funerary objects, and unassociated funerary objects and Sam Monet/Fannie L. Moniz Ohana, Nalani Olds Ohana, Terrilee Napuna Keko'olani-Raymond Ohana, Carloa Manuel Ohana, Eric Po'ohina on his behalf and on behalf of Huna Research Institute, the Princess Nahoa Olelo o Kamehameha Society, Ka Ohana O Na Iwi o Mokapu representing Hui Malama I Na Kupuna o Hawai'i Nei, the Office of Hawaiian Affairs, Ka Lahui Hawaii, Gladys Pualoa and the Ko'olauloa Hawaiian Civic Club, Miriam (Toni) Yardley, Ella Paguyo, Ipolani Tano, and Delilah Ortiz.
