

The Agency also will present statistical methodology for the use of composite data in acute dietary exposure assessment. The Agency has identified a reliable, statistical methodology for applying existing information from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Pesticide Data Program (PDP) report to acute dietary risk assessments. This methodology consists of extrapolating pesticide residue data from composite samples of fruits and vegetables to single serving sizes of fruits and vegetables. Estimates of probable residues present on single serving sizes of fruits and vegetables will be applied to a probabilistic approach such as, the Monte-Carlo method, in order to estimate dietary (food) risks.

The final session will focus on estimating pesticide concentrations in drinking water. Passage of FQPA has led to the development of tools, policies, and methods for estimating pesticide concentrations in drinking water. As presented at the July 29, 1998 SAP meeting, the Agency proposed to replace the existing small edge of a field pond with a reservoir and factor in the extent of crop coverage into its screening-level drinking water exposure assessments. The proposed SAP session is designed to provide a progress report on the development of "Watershed-Derived Percent Crop Areas" (previously termed "crop area factors") as presented at the July 1998 SAP meeting as well as to seek scientific advice on implementation of the Watershed-Derived Percent Crop Areas in the FQPA drinking water exposure assessment using the proposed index reservoir modeling scenario.

Individuals requiring special accommodations at this meeting, including wheelchair access, should contact Paul Lewis at the address listed under "FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT" at least 5 business days prior to the meeting so that appropriate arrangements can be made.

IV. What is the HPV Chemical Challenge Program?

The HPV Challenge Program, a key element of the Chemical Right-to-Know initiative was announced last year on the eve of Earth Day, by Vice President Gore and EPA Administrator Carol Browner. As part of this initiative, EPA, in partnership with industry and environmental groups, created a voluntary chemical testing program which will make basic toxicity data on about 2,800 widely used industrial chemicals (chemicals produced in excess of one million pounds annually) available to the public over the next 6 years. Testing will ensue only when existing data are not adequate. The testing will be carried out in a manner consistent with the internationally-recognized testing protocol (as developed by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Screening Information Data Sets (SIDS) program) to ensure that testing can be contributed to the international effort and, conversely, that international SIDS testing and assessments can be used to fulfill the Challenge Program's requirements.

V. What Will be Discussed at the Public Meetings?

The purpose of these meetings is to provide an opportunity for periodic updates on the HPV Chemical Challenge program, as well as to provide a forum where interested parties can contribute information, discuss and give individual perspectives on various topics related to the HPV Chemical Challenge program. Each meeting will be open to the public, but participation in discussions may be limited to those who pre-register with the Agency as described in Unit III. of this notice.

An agenda for each meeting, which EPA will develop in consultation with the stakeholders, will be made publicly available as early as possible prior to the meeting.
