AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is approving State Implementation Plan (SIP) revisions submitted by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (Pennsylvania). The revisions impose reasonably available control technology (RACT) on two major sources of nitrogen oxides (NO<sub>x</sub>) located in the Pittsburgh-Beaver Valley area (the Pittsburgh area). EPA is approving these revisions to establish RACT requirements in the SIP in accordance with the Clean Air Act.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This final rule is effective on November 5, 2001.

ADDRESSES: Copies of the documents relevant to this action are available for public inspection during normal business hours at the Air Protection

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:*I. Background

On April 18, 2000, EPA published a direct final rule approving RACT determinations submitted by the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection (PADEP) for twenty-six major sources of NO<sub>x</sub> and/or volatile organic compounds (VOC) and a companion notice of proposed rulemaking (65 FR 20788). We received adverse comments on the direct final rule and a request for an extension of the comment period. We had indicated in our April 18, 2001 direct final rulemaking that if we received adverse comments, we would withdraw the direct final rule and address all public comments in a subsequent final rule based on the proposed rule (65 FR 20788). On June 19, 2000 (65 FR 38168), EPA published a withdrawal notice in the Federal Register informing the public that the direct final rule did not take effect. On June 19, 2000 (65 FR 38169), we also published a notice providing an extension of the comment period and making corrections to our original proposed rule. This final rule pertains to two of the twenty-six sources which were included in the April 18, 2001 rulemaking, namely Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporations's Vandergrift Plant located in Westmoreland County and INDSPEC Chemical Corporation's Petrolia Plant located in Butler County. The remaining twenty-four sources will be the subject of separate rulemakings.

II. Summary of the SIP Revisions

On March 21, 1996, December 7, 1998 and April 9, 1999, the PADEP submitted NO<sub>x</sub> RACT determinations for Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporations's Vandergrift Plant located in Westmoreland County and INDSPEC Chemical Corporation's Petrolia Plant located in Butler County to EPA as SIP revisions. On April 18, 2001 (65 FR 20788), EPA proposed to approve these SIP revisions. Brief descriptions of the RACT requirements imposed for these sources are provided at II. A and B.

A. Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporations's Vandergrift Plant

This is a major NO<sub>x</sub> facility as defined in 25 Pa. Code Chapter 121, section 121.1 of Pennsylvania's SIP approved regulations. Therefore the facility is subject to the RACT requirements of Chapter 129, section 129.91 of Pennsylvania's SIP approved regulations. The facility submitted a RACT proposal in accordance with the SIP-approved requirements section 129.92. Boiler's #1 and #2 are combustion units with a rated input equal to or greater than 20MMBtu/hr but less than 50MMBtu/hr. Allegheny Ludlum elected to comply with the SIP-approved presumptive RACT requirements applicable to such size boilers found at section 129.93(b)(2). The PADEP cited to these requirements in Condition 4 of RACT Operating Permit No. 65-000-137 issued to Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporations's Vandergrift Plant. The two remaining sources at the facility that require a RACT analysis are the No. 90 line anneal furnace used to anneal stresses introduced during rolling operations, and the associated pickling line process where steel is submerged in an acid bath which dissolves and removes oxidized metal and other materials from the surface of the steel. Brief descriptions of the RACT requirements imposed by PADEP are provide below. The RACT plan proposal submitted by Allegheny County Ludlum on March 17, 1994 and PADEP's Review of the RACT Application, dated June 22, 1995, detail the technical and economic analyses performed to rank control technology options in accordance with 25 Pa Code 129.92. Those documents, among others generated by PADEP, are included in the docket for this rulemaking.

The 90 line furnace is capable of annealing steel at temperatures ranging from 1350 degrees to 2200 degree F. Control technology options were analyzed and ranked by Allegheny Ludlum for the 90 line furnace including: (1) Selective catalytic reduction (SCR) and Low NO<sub>x</sub> Burners (LNB); (2) SCR only; (3) LNB and flue gas recirculation (FGR); and FGR alone. The costs per ton of NO<sub>x</sub> removed calculated to $9285/ton for SCR and LNB; $8958/ton for SCR; $9160/ton for LNB and FGR; and $3349/ton for FGR. The pickling line uses a nitric acid/hydrofluoric acid bath and is currently employing absorption and chemical reaction technology. Several control options were evaluated for this source. An oxidation/absorption system with chemical reaction and 85% control efficiency was evaluated and found to
