Discussion

The FAA limits flights during certain hours at four high density traffic airports: John F. Kennedy International Airport (JFK), LaGuardia Airport (LGA), Chicago O'Hare International Airport (ORD), and Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA). (Although Newark International Airport is also designated as a high density traffic airport, the quotas for that airport have been suspended indefinitely.) Reservations for air carrier and commuter flights (also called slots) are allocated in accordance with Title 14 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) Part 93, Subpart S, and are not allocated by the procedures described in this draft advisory circular. Reservation procedures for the "other" of category operations are currently in the Aeronautical Information Manual and other air traffic publications. The Airport Reservation Office (ARO), a function of the David J. Hurley Air Traffic Control System Command Center, allocates these reservations for unscheduled operations. Reservations are allocated primarily by the Computer Voice Reservation System (CVRS), which is currently available using a touch-tone telephone or a computer and telephone modem.

The FAA notes that certain general aviation and other unscheduled flights are currently limited at DCA. If future FAA actions regarding flights at DCA would require changes to the procedures described in this advisory circular, they will be addressed separately. Users should continue to check current NOTAMs for the latest information. Comments about the current flight limits at DCA are beyond the scope of this advisory circular.

This advisory circular announces several changes to current procedures and adds clarifying language. The major changes are discussed below.

The FAA proposes to change the lead-time during which a reservation for an unscheduled operation may be obtained from 48 hours with exceptions to 72 hours with no exceptions. Current procedures allow an operator to make a reservation no more than 48 hours in advance of the operation, with two exceptions. [The first exception is for weekends, which provides that reservations may be made on Thursday for Monday and on Friday for Tuesday. The second exception provides that an additional reservation beyond the 48-hour period may be made if the second reservation is for the same calendar day and is made during the same telephone call. The second exception was adopted to allow an operator to obtain roundtrip reservation availability beginning 48 hours in advance of the operation and to provide an opportunity to revise operational plans should the requested slot times not be available.] The FAA proposes the adoption of a straight 72-hour window to obtain a reservation and the elimination of the 48-hour window with the related exceptions. This new procedure permits an operator to make an arrival or departure reservation at a high density traffic airport (HDTA) beginning 72 hours in advance of the proposed hour of operation. The FAA believes that a 72-hour limit generally provides more advance time for obtaining reservations and planning operations accordingly. In addition, it will address an abuse of current procedures by some operators who obtain multiple reservations beginning at the earliest possible time for the express purpose of exceeding the 48-hour limits during one telephone call. One example of abuse is when an operator obtains a reservation for a 6 a.m. arrival 48 hours in advance and, in the same telephone transaction, makes a reservation for a 5 p.m. departure. The operator then makes additional reservations by second telephone call for a 6 a.m. departure and a 4 p.m. arrival. The operator ultimately conducts only flights arriving at 4 p.m. and departing at 5 p.m. using reservations that were both made more than 48 hours in advance. This results in inequitable opportunities for the operators who comply with the intent of
