Developing and Implementing the Institute for Quality in Laboratory Medicine

Announcement Type: New.

Funding Opportunity Number: 04151.

Catalog of Federal Domestic

Assistance Number: The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance number is 93.064.

Key Dates:

Letter of Intent Deadline: July 7, 2004.

Application Deadline: July 22, 2004.

I. Funding Opportunity Description

Authority: This program is authorized under section 317 (k)(2) of the Public Health Service Act, 42 U.S.C. section 247b (k)(2), as amended.

Purpose: The purpose of the program is to develop and implement a series of activities associated with the development of an Institute of Quality in Laboratory Medicine. These activities aim to improve the effectiveness of laboratory testing services while, at the same time, enhancing the quality of laboratory testing services in the United States. These enhancements in testing practices and the quality of laboratory testing services will be related to areas of public health significance such as, for example, detection and prevention of cancer, more timely assessment of human health, testing for genetic conditions, and other diseases of importance to the public's health, and the regulations, i.e., Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendments of 1988 (CLIA-88) governing laboratory testing.

Measurable outcomes of the program will be in alignment with the following performance goal for the Public Health Practice Program Office (PHPO):

"Assure the public health infrastructure at the Federal, state, and local levels has the capacity to provide essential public health services to the citizens of the nation to respond to bioterrorism, other infectious disease outbreaks, other public health threats, emergencies and prepare frontline state and local health departments and laboratories to respond to current and emerging public health threats."

This program addresses the "Healthy People 2010" focus area(s): "Access to Quality Health Services" and "Public Health Infrastructure".

Activities

Awardee activities, in collaboration with the CDC and its partners in the Quality Institute Conference, are as follows:

a. Develop plans to establish and evaluate a core set of measures for the quality of laboratory services and assess the feasibility of using this core set of indicators in a variety of laboratory settings.

b. Develop plans for implementing sentinel networks to enhance the value of laboratory practices and evaluate changes in practice over time; including alternative approaches to identified barriers (eg: regulatory barriers)

c. Provide a plan for creating a national report on the quality of laboratory services including strategies that can be used to improve quality assurance activities, recognition of where most testing errors may be occurring, and issues related to near patient testing. The report may include such items as information on the electronic health record, the expanded role of the electronic health record, database interoperability, evidenced based practice, the changing laboratory quality assurance paradigm (pre-analytic, analytic, and post-analytic), models to integrate evidence, optimizing time from research evaluation of a diagnostic test to its clinical utility, current challenges, and long-term challenges. The plan would include suggested partners to provide data for the report, mechanisms to maintain the report as a virtual document, and an outline of the proposed report's content.

d. Manage a process to incorporate and implement an Institute for Quality in Laboratory Medicine, including the logistics of the formation, legal documents, and structure of institute.

e. Lead efforts to improve laboratory quality systems in resource limited laboratories through:

i. Developing, promoting, and distributing laboratory health systems consensus standards, guidelines, and reports that target the needs of resource limited laboratories.

ii. Providing education, training, and mentoring opportunities in quality systems for leaders and quality
