Abstract: The U.S. Department of Education's Office of Vocational and Adult Education established the Community Partnerships for Adult Education (C-PAL) project to facilitate the building of partnerships to improve the quality of adult education in the United States. The project's Web site (<http://www.c-pal.net>) was launched in June of 2002 and contains a high-quality and broadly representative selection of community building and adult education resources. The C-PAL project staff is committed to ensuring that the Web site continues to meet the ongoing needs of the adult education community and that it contains up-to-date information about adult education programs, practices, and products.
