

for the turf/woody ornamentals/bedding plants/ferns, the loader/applicator for the use of wettable powder (WP) formulations in commercial seed treatments, the on-farm seed treatments except sugar beets, loading/applying liquid for commercial soybean treatment, and mixing/loading wettable powder for groundboom application on turf. There is also a concern for occupational postapplication exposure resulting from entering areas previously treated with chloroneb.

The Agency estimates that two foliar turf uses exceed the endangered species and restricted use levels of concern for freshwater aquatic organisms. In addition, because there was some mortality observed in the bobwhite quail acute dietary study, risks to endangered bird species from foliar turf and ornamental uses cannot be dismissed. The risks to reptiles and terrestrial phase amphibians are assessed by using birds as a surrogate, so risks to reptiles are assumed to be the same as those to birds. No acute or chronic mammal assessments were conducted because data were not submitted to the Agency. Consequently, OPP is not able to dismiss the risk for this group.

To adequately protect human health and the environment, it may be necessary to change current use and/or application practices. The Agency is requesting the public's input on usage information, data refinement, and/or mitigation proposals to address risk concerns resulting from the uses of chloroneb. Specific areas in which the Agency is requesting public input are provided in a separate document available in the chloroneb docket.

EPA is providing an opportunity, through this notice, for interested parties to provide comments and input on the Agency's risk assessments for chloroneb. Such comments and input could address, for example, the availability of additional data to further refine the risk assessments, such as worker exposure data, or could address the Agency's risk assessment methodologies and assumptions as applied to this specific pesticide. In particular, the Agency is seeking any available toxicity data on chloroneb relating to cancer. Without such data, the Agency believes a safety finding can not be made, nor a decision to find chloroneb eligible for reregistration. Through this notice, EPA also is providing an opportunity for interested parties to provide risk management proposals or otherwise comment on risk management.

EPA seeks to achieve environmental justice, the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of all people, regardless of race, color, national origin, or income, in the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations, and policies. To help address potential environmental justice issues, the Agency seeks information on any groups or segments of the population who, as a result of their location, cultural practices, or other factors, may have atypical, unusually high exposure to chloroneb, compared to the general population.

EPA is applying the principles of public participation to all pesticides undergoing reregistration and tolerance reassessment. The Agency's Pesticide Tolerance Reassessment and Reregistration; Public Participation Process, published in the Federal Register on May 14, 2004, (69 FR 26819) (FRL-7357-9) explains that in conducting these programs, the Agency is tailoring its public participation process to be commensurate with the level of risk, extent of use, complexity of the issues, and degree of public concern associated with each pesticide. For chloroneb, a modified, 4-Phase process, one comment period and ample opportunity for public consultation seems appropriate in view of its refined risk assessments, and limited use. However, if as a result of comments received during this comment period EPA finds that additional issues warranting further discussion are raised, the Agency may lengthen the process and include a second comment period, as needed.

All comments should be submitted using the methods in Unit I. of the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION, and must be received by EPA on or before the closing date. Comments will become part of the Agency Docket for chloroneb. Comments received after the close of the comment period will be marked "late." EPA is not required to consider these late comments.

B. What is the Agency's Authority for Taking this Action?

Section 4(g)(2) of FIFRA as amended directs that, after submission of all data concerning a pesticide active ingredient, "the Administrator shall determine whether pesticides containing such active ingredient are eligible for reregistration," before calling in product specific data on individual end-use products and either reregistering products or taking other "appropriate regulatory action."

Section 408(q) of the FFDCA, 21 U.S.C. 346a(q), requires EPA to review tolerances and exemptions for pesticide residues in effect as of August 2, 1996, to determine whether the tolerance or exemption meets the requirements of section 408(b)(2) or (c)(2) of FFDCA. This review is to be completed by August 3, 2006.
