Solicitation for a Cooperative Agreement: A "Systems Approach" for Workforce Performance—Curriculum Development

AGENCY: National Institute of Corrections, Department of Justice.

ACTION: Solicitation for a cooperative agreement.

SUMMARY: The National Institute of Corrections (NIC) is soliciting proposals from organizations, groups or individuals to enter into a cooperative agreement to develop and field test a 36-hour curriculum to train a multi-disciplinary staff in state correctional agencies and prison systems. The time of the cooperative agreement is for a twelve month period. Two training pilots at sites selected by NIC will be completed no later than September 30, 2010, with a final curriculum delivered to NIC no later than December 30, 2010.

The training curriculum will focus on the concept of agency management and operations as a systemic and collaborative effort of all stakeholders in the system. It will include updated and contemporary elements essential for managing an agency and institution to achieve its statutory mandates and mission in an increasingly challenging and budget lean environment. It will include modules on organizational change and building a culture for collaboration. The ultimate goal of the curriculum will be to provide management teams with the tools to manage their operations and demonstrate efficient, effective, safe and secure practices for staff, inmates and the general public.

DATES: Applications must be received by 2 p.m. EDT on Monday, November 30, 2009.

ADDRESSES: Mailed applications must be sent to: Director, National Institute of Corrections, 320 First Street, NW., Room

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Overview: The overall goal of the initiative is to design, develop, field test and revise, as needed, a training curriculum that will provide a multi-disciplinary staff in state correctional agencies and prison systems the competencies, skills and tools to leverage the performance of their operations and demonstrate efficient, effective, safe and secure practices for staff, inmates and the general public.

Background: Managing prisons in today's climate presents correctional administrators and prison officials' particular challenges. First, and likely at the forefront, is the problem of shrinking state revenues forcing drastic cuts in funding. The impact has been far reaching, from delaying expansions needed to accommodate a growing population, closing units or even whole facilities to stretching staffing ratios compromising security and safety (2007/2008 NIC Needs Assessment). Many agencies are under mounting pressure to release large volumes of prisoners across communities within their jurisdictions.

Second, the population demographic has become increasingly complex. A growing women offender population presents unique gender challenges for prison management who continue to operate with a bias toward the male offender. A growing number of offenders diagnosed with mental illness, sentenced and placed in prison present very difficult and unique challenges to both custody and case management staff. These offenders present a serious management, safety and budget problem for correctional administrators.

Another demographic that has already begun to pose problems, especially in terms of cost, is the "aging" population resulting from the past three decades of "tough on crime" legislation. This population and its impact will continue to intensify over the next two decades. Other issues facing prison administrators are: Coping with the changing generational workforce with different values and perspectives, some of which are not conducive to effective and efficient management; the age old cultural dissonance between custody and treatment staff compounded by expanding roles and expectations of each; and an increased demand for accountability and to open a typically closed system to both the media and the public.

The list of issues for agency and prison management goes on. The overarching need for agencies facing increasingly complex systems and unique challenges is to adopt performance-based behaviors, processes and standards, and deploy practices and strategies that embrace the multiple disciplines of stakeholders and functions that make up an agency and prison operation.

Another NIC related project currently underway, "Identifying Characteristics of High Performing Correctional Organizations (HCPO)," will inform and serve as a foundational element for curriculum work done under this project. The HCPO project is focused on developing a methodology to design a model and assessment tool to identify and bridge gaps between current performance and optimal performance in terms of efficiency, effectiveness and accountability in correctional organizations. For more information on this project, please visit the HCPO Blog at <http://NICIC.gov/HPCO>.

Purpose/Outcomes: The overarching purpose of this initiative is to promote and help correctional agencies develop the organizational competence to implement systematic, seamless and "high performing" practices resulting in increased accountability for enhanced public safety and fiscal responsibility. The following intended outcomes for this project are: Agency operational practices will improve next to performance standards identified by system stakeholders with an action learning plan strategy; Agency/institutional and cultural barriers will be reduced/eliminated as evidenced by an increase in collaborative behaviors and collective performance among stakeholders; Safety and security in an agency/institution will increase; Agencies/institutions will adopt key elements and standards of a learning and performance-based culture.

Scope of Work: Under this cooperative agreement, the single goal is the development, testing, and revision of a curriculum to train a multi-disciplinary staff in State correctional agencies and prison systems.

A description of the products and deliverables for the project include a training curriculum titled: A “Systems Approach” for Workforce Performance. The Curriculum package will contain: (1) An instructor/facilitator’s guide with associated tools, materials and resources; (2) A participant resource guide to be used in conjunction with all training activities; (3) Instructional aides and materials including presentation slide shows, charts, handouts, case studies, assessments, etc. to support instruction and facilitation.

Training Program Description: The training program has been announced in NIC’s Service Plan—“Technical Assistance, Information, and Training for Adult Corrections”, for delivery during FY 2010. A description follows, or may be downloaded online at <http://nicic.gov/Library/023761>, refer to page 52.

This 36-hour “agency exclusive” strategy development program will focus on the concept of agency management and operations as a systemic and collaborative effort of all stakeholders in addressing policies, procedures, and practices in their correctional system. It will include updated and contemporary elements essential for managing an agency in an increasingly challenging and budget-conscious environment. It will reveal and promote evidence-based practice that results in both short-term offender management and long-term public safety. The program includes modules on organizational change and building an environment of collaboration. The objective is to provide management teams with the tools and techniques necessary for coordinating their operations and to demonstrate a systemic approach in developing, maintaining, and evaluating those services and operations for efficiency and effectiveness.

The program can accommodate up to 30 participants identified by the host agency. The agency should be able to provide onsite meeting space for both the main sessions and breakout sessions. NIC will provide the facilitators and materials.

The targeted audience for the training is agency executive staff, including the director, deputy/assistant directors, regional directors and program administrators, wardens/superintendents, and designated program and security managers from a selected correctional agency who are responsible for agency-wide operations and programs.

Training Program Goals: The following are the intended outcomes for participants completing the training program: Adopt and implement organizational and individual “performance-based” behaviors, strategies and techniques; Adopt and implement an established set of performance standards and benchmarks supported by organizational literature and research, and identified by relevant NIC workgroups on agency performance; Identify system performance barriers and gaps, and implement, evaluate and revise strategies to close these gaps; Assess agency/institutional cultural characteristics and implement strategies to leverage healthy cultural behaviors, limit/reduce unhealthy cultural barriers, and increase collaborative behaviors and the collective performance among agency/institutional stakeholders; Develop and implement strategies to promote an integrated, systems approach to the operations and practices in an agency/institution leading to substantially improved operational efficiencies and practices; Assess and evaluate organizational behavior and practices that embrace “organizational learning” and implement strategies to enhance or adopt the key elements and standards of a learning and performance-based culture.

Requirements: The recipient of this cooperative agreement award must, at a minimum, do the following within the scope of this project: Consult with the Correctional Program Specialist (CPS) assigned to manage the cooperative agreement to ensure understanding of, and agreement on, the scope of work to be performed; Submit a detailed work plan with time lines and milestones for accomplishing project activities to CPS for approval prior to any work being performed under this agreement; Designate a point of contact, which would serve as the conduit of information and work experience between the CPS and the award recipient; Conduct a comprehensive needs assessment and literature review to support the basis of the curriculum; Review relevant NIC curriculum and/or documents in the development of the curriculum; Consult with the CPS on both proposed content and training strategies. (The NIC/CPS will have final approval of both); Conduct a field test of the curriculum. This will consist of two pilot trainings to be done at two agencies selected by NIC. (Note: all participant associated costs will be the responsibility of the agency receiving the training. It is expected that the recipient of the cooperative agreement award will budget for the cost of training staff); Consult with the CPS concerning trainers for program delivery with NIC having final approval of training program faculty; Consult with the CPS on evaluation methodology; and provide evaluation data with recommendations for revisions to the curriculum.

Curriculum Specifications: The curriculum must be designed and developed adhering to the following standards and specifications: The curriculum and training design is consistent with and embraces the Instructional Theory into Practice (ITIP) model. A reference to this model can be found at the following link on the NIC Web site <http://nicic.gov/Library/010714>; Written products are developed to support the training; The curriculum facilitation guide is written using a standard curriculum document format to include at a minimum: Module/Sections and Titles, Performance Objectives/Expectations, Learning Activities Guide, Practice/Application, Evaluation Method and Resources needed to conduct training activities; References are cited that support curriculum content and concepts; Copyright permissions are secured for the use of copyright protected publications and materials with a minimum usage of three years; All documents must be delivered electronically in both MS Word 2003 or higher and Adobe PDF; A “camera print ready” hard copy must also be submitted; NIC will have final approval of the format, look and organization of the curriculum documents.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-60840; File No. SR-Phlx-2009-77]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Order Approving Proposed Rule Change by NASDAQ OMX PHLX, Inc. Regarding Listing Certain Options at $1 Strike Price Intervals Below $200 and Listing Certain Options at $2.50 Strike Price Intervals Below $200

October 20, 2009.

On September 4, 2009, NASDAQ OMX PHLX, Inc. ("Phlx" or "Exchange") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission"), pursuant to Section 19(b)(1)¹ of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act")² and Rule 19b-4 thereunder,³ a proposed rule change to permit the listing of certain option series at $1 and $2.50 strike price intervals for strike prices below $200. The proposed rule change was published for comment in the Federal Register on September 16, 2009.⁴ There were no comments on the proposed rule change. This order approves the proposed rule change.

The Exchange proposes to amend Phlx Rules 1012 and 1101A to permit the Exchange to list eight index options (the "$1 Indexes") at $1 strike price intervals below $200.⁵ The Exchange believes that $1 strike price intervals in these option series will provide investors with greater flexibility by allowing them to establish positions that are better tailored to meet their investment objectives. The Exchange also proposes to amend Rule 1101A to permit the Exchange to list options on two indexes at $2.50 strike price intervals below $200.⁶

For initial series in options on the $1 Indexes, the Exchange will list at least two strike prices above and two strike prices below the current value of the $1 Index at or about the time a series is opened for trading on the Exchange. Series listed at the time of initial listing must be within five (5) points of the closing value of the $1 Index on the preceding day. The Exchange will be permitted to list up to sixty (60) additional series, subject to certain guidelines,⁷ when the Exchange deems it necessary to maintain an orderly market, to meet customer demand, or when the underlying $1 Index moves substantially from the initial exercise price or prices. In all cases, however, $1 strike price intervals may be listed on $1 Index options only where the strike price is less than $200. The Exchange is also proposing to set forth a delisting

⁴ See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 60637 (September 9, 2009), 74 FR 47634 ("Notice").

⁶ The Exchange is proposing $2.50 strike price intervals for the following sector indexes: The NASDAQ China IndexSM (CNZ) and the Reduced Value Russell 2000® Index (RMN).

⁷ Additional strike prices shall be within thirty percent (30%) above or below the closing value of the $1 Index; however, the Exchange will be permitted to open additional strike prices that are more than 30% above or below the current $1 Index value provided that demonstrated customer interest exists for such series, as expressed by institutional, corporate or individual customers or their brokers. Market-Makers trading for their own account will not be considered when determining customer interest. See Proposed Rule 1101A Commentary .03(b).
