

separate appearance for the final phase of the investigations. Industrial users, and, if the merchandise under investigation is sold at the retail level, representative consumer organizations have the right to appear as parties in Commission antidumping and countervailing duty investigations. The Secretary will prepare a public service list containing the names and addresses of all persons, or their representatives, who are parties to the investigations.

Background

On March 31, 2011, a petition was filed with the Commission and Commerce by Davis Wire Corporation, Irwindale, CA; Johnstown Wire Technologies, Inc., Johnstown, PA; Mid-South Wire Company, Inc., Nashville, TN; National Standard, LLC/DW—National Standard-Niles, LLC, Niles, MI; and Oklahoma Steel & Wire Company, Inc., Madill, OK, alleging that an industry in the United States is materially injured by reason of LTFV and subsidized imports of galvanized steel wire from China and Mexico. Accordingly, effective March 31, 2011, the Commission instituted countervailing duty investigation No. 701-TA-479 and antidumping duty investigation Nos. 731-TA-1183-1184 (Preliminary).

Notice of the institution of the Commission's investigations and of a public conference to be held in connection therewith was given by posting copies of the notice in the Office of the Secretary, U.S. International Trade Commission, Washington, DC, and by publishing the notice in the Federal Register of April 7, 2011 (76 FR 19382). The conference was held in Washington, DC, on April 21, 2011, and all persons who requested the opportunity were permitted to appear in person or by counsel.

The Commission transmitted its determination in these investigations to the Secretary of Commerce today. The views of the Commission are contained in USITC Publication 4234 (May 2011), entitled Galvanized Steel Wire from China and Mexico: Investigation Nos. 701-TA-479 and 731-TA-1183-1184 (Preliminary).

Issued: May 16, 2011.

By order of the Commission.

James R. Holbein,

Secretary to the Commission.

Solicitation for a Cooperative Agreement—New Jail Planning Initiative: Review and Revision

AGENCY: National Institute of Corrections, U.S. Department of Justice.

ACTION: Solicitation for a Cooperative Agreement.

SUMMARY: The National Institute of Corrections (NIC) Jails Division is seeking applications for the revision of its services related to new jail planning. The project will be for an 18-month period and will be carried out in conjunction with the NIC Jails Division. The awardee will work closely with NIC staff on all aspects of the project. To be considered, applicants must demonstrate, at a minimum: (1) In-depth knowledge of the purpose, functions, and operational complexities of local jails, (2) extensive experience in the roles of architect and planner in the new-jail planning process, as taught by NIC (see SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION), and (3) expertise and experience in developing curricula based on adult learning principles, specifically the Instructional Theory Into Practice (ITIP) model.

DATES: Applications must be received by 4 p.m. (EDT) on Friday, June 10, 2011.

ADDRESSES: Mailed applications must be sent to: Director, National Institute of Corrections, 320 First Street, NW., Room

5002, Washington, DC 20534.

Applicants are encouraged to use Federal Express, UPS, or similar service to ensure delivery by the due date as mail at NIC is sometimes delayed due to security screening.

Applicants who wish to hand-deliver their applications should bring them to 500 First Street, NW., Washington, DC 20534, and dial 202-307-3106, ext. 0, at the front desk for pickup.

Faxed or e-mailed applications will not be accepted; however, electronic applications can be submitted via <http://www.grants.gov>.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: A copy of this announcement and links to the required application forms can be downloaded from the NIC Web site at <http://www.nicic.gov/cooperativeagreements>.

Questions about this project and the application procedures should be directed to Mike Jackson, Correctional Program Specialist, National Institute of Corrections. Questions must be sent via e-mail to Mr. Jackson at mpjackson@bop.gov. Mr. Jackson will respond via e-mail to the individual. Also, all questions and responses will be posted on NIC's Web site at <http://www.nicic.gov> for public review. (The names of those submitting the questions will not be posted). The Web site will be updated regularly and postings will remain on the Web site until the closing date of this cooperative agreement solicitation.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background: The NIC Jails Division offers technical assistance, training, and information on new jail planning to local jurisdictions nationwide. These services cover the full range of activities related to new jail planning, from exploration of the need for a new jail to the decision to build through design, construction, and occupation of the new facility.

Based on a recent review of these services, NIC intends to revise its training and technical assistance to ensure it most effectively meets the needs of local jurisdictions considering building a new jail.

NIC's training and technical assistance on new jail planning currently includes:

Jail and Justice System Assessment—This is a 3-day onsite technical assistance event for individual jurisdictions that are considering renovating an existing jail or constructing a new one because their jail is crowded or in poor condition. Assessment activities include a review of the current jail and interviews with local criminal justice system officials on policies and practices that affect the jail population. This assistance results in recommendations for local officials about possible improvements they can make to the existing jail, construction of jail beds, and ways in which criminal justice system practices might be modified to alleviate jail crowding.

Planning of New Institutions—This 4-day training program conducted at NIC's training center in Colorado is for jurisdictions that have made the commitment to build a new jail or renovate an old one. It focuses on the critical elements of planning a new facility, including collecting and using data, pre-architectural programming, site evaluation, project management, and determining staffing needs. The program stresses the importance of in-depth planning before starting facility design and the need for the owners and operators of the new jail to maintain control of the planning process.

Managing Jail Design and Construction—This 4-day training program conducted at NIC's training center in Colorado is for jurisdictions that are ready to begin designing a new jail. It targets three-person jurisdictional teams whose members have key decision-making roles in the project. These teams may include the sheriff, the jail administrator, the project manager, transition team leader, or other assigned staff member. The program introduces participants to project management and clarifies the roles and responsibilities of those who develop, design, and construct new facilities. Through a variety of exercises, the program guides participants in understanding how the nuances of jail operations must be translated into design. Jurisdictional teams learn how to read and interpret facility planning documents, manage changes during construction, and develop a design and construction plan that meets their needs.

How to Open a New Institution—This training program is delivered onsite for individual jurisdictions that are within 12-18 months of opening a new jail. It is designed for the transition team—those staff charged with planning the details of the day-to-day operations of the new facility and the transition into that facility. Training is provided on the function of the jail's mission statement; development of operational scenarios, policies, procedures, and post orders; move logistics; staff training issues; budgeting for transition; and development of an action plan for transition.

The cooperative agreement awardee will complete revisions to all four of these services, ensuring that information about new jail planning is consistent
