SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:I. Background

This rule proposes to amend the definition of "qualifying country end product" to remove the component test for qualifying country end products that are commercially available off-the-shelf items.

Under the Buy American Act, there is a two-part test to define a domestic end product. The product must be manufactured in the United States and there is a formula based on the cost of foreign components compared to the cost of all components. Under FAR Case 2000-305, the component test was waived for the acquisition of commercially available off-the-shelf (COTS) items (see FAR 25.001(c)(1)). Likewise, the component test for the DFARS definition of "domestic end product" was waived by the interim rule of DFARS Case 2008-D009 (74 FR 2422, January 15, 2009) and final rule published December 24, 2009 (74 FR 68384). These changes were based on a determination signed by the Administrator for Federal Procurement Policy on February 14, 2008, regarding laws applicable to the acquisition of COTS items. According to the determination, the component test of the Buy American Act (41 U.S.C. chapter 83) does not apply to COTS items.

The definition of "qualifying country end product" is not statutory, but it was modeled after the definition of "domestic end product" as a matter of policy. Therefore, it is within the authority of DoD to change this definition as a matter of policy, to waive the component test for qualifying country end products that are COTS items, so that it will not be necessary to try to track the origin of components of COTS items that are manufactured in a qualifying country, in order to determine that an end product is a qualifying country end product.

II. Executive Orders 12866 and 13563

Executive Orders (E.O.s) 12866 and 13563 direct agencies to assess all costs and benefits of available regulatory alternatives and, if regulation is necessary, to select regulatory approaches that maximize net benefits (including potential economic, environmental, public health and safety effects, distributive impacts, and equity). E.O. 13563 emphasizes the importance of quantifying both costs and benefits, of reducing costs, of harmonizing rules, and of promoting flexibility. This is a significant regulatory action and, therefore, was subject to review under section 6(b) of E.O. 12866, Regulatory Planning and Review, dated September 30, 1993. This rule is not a major rule under 5 U.S.C. 804.

III. Regulatory Flexibility Act

DoD does not expect this rule to have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq., because the rule only affects manufacturers of COTS items in qualifying countries, removing an administrative burden for the qualifying country manufacturer and the Government personnel acquiring the items. The Regulatory Flexibility Act is intended to protect small entities in the United States, not foreign entities, regardless of size. For the definition of "small business", the Regulatory Flexibility Act refers to the Small Business Act, which in turn allows the SBA Administrator to specify detailed definitions or standards. 5 U.S.C. 601(3) and 15 U.S.C. 632(a). The SBA regulations at 13 CFR 121.105 discuss who is a small business: " (a)(1) Except for small agricultural cooperatives, a business concern eligible for assistance from SBA as a small business is a business entity organized for profit, with a place of business located in the United States, and which operates primarily within the United States or which makes a significant contribution to the U.S. economy through payment of taxes or use of American products, materials or labor." The comparable change has already been enacted for the benefit of U.S. manufacturers of COTS items in the DFARS which aligns with the FAR. Therefore, an initial regulatory flexibility analysis has not been performed. DoD invites comments from small business concerns and other interested parties on the expected impact of this rule on small entities.

DoD will also consider comments from small entities concerning the existing regulations in subparts affected by this rule in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 610. Interested parties must submit such comments separately and should cite 5 U.S.C. 610 (DFARS Case 2011-D029) in correspondence.

V. Paperwork Reduction Act

The rule does not contain any information collection requirements that require the approval of the Office of Management and Budget under the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. chapter 35).
