

publish a list of all approved drugs. FDA publishes this list as part of the "Approved Drug Products With Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations," which is generally known as the "Orange Book." Under FDA regulations, a drug is removed from the list if the Agency withdraws or suspends approval of the drug's NDA or ANDA for reasons of safety or effectiveness, or if FDA determines that the listed drug was withdrawn from sale for reasons of safety or effectiveness (21 CFR 314.162).

Under § 314.161(a) (21 CFR 314.161(a)), the Agency must determine whether a listed drug was withdrawn from sale for reasons of safety or effectiveness: (1) Before an ANDA that refers to that listed drug may be approved; (2) whenever a listed drug is voluntarily withdrawn from sale and ANDAs that refer to the listed drug have been approved; and (3) when a person petitions for such a determination under 21 CFR 10.25(a) and 10.30. Section 314.161(d) provides that if FDA determines that a listed drug was withdrawn from sale for safety or effectiveness reasons, the Agency will initiate proceedings that could result in the withdrawal of approval of the ANDAs that refer to the listed drug.

FDA has become aware that the drug products listed in the table in this document are no longer being marketed.

FDA has reviewed its records and, under § 314.161, has determined that the drug products listed in this document were not withdrawn from sale for reasons of safety or effectiveness. Accordingly, the Agency will continue to list the drug products listed in this document in the "Discontinued Drug Product List" section of the Orange Book. The "Discontinued Drug Product List" identifies, among other items, drug products that have been discontinued from marketing for reasons other than safety or effectiveness.

Approved ANDAs that refer to the NDAs and ANDAs listed in this document are unaffected by the discontinued marketing of the products subject to those NDAs and ANDAs. Additional ANDAs that refer to these products may also be approved by the Agency if they comply with relevant legal and regulatory requirements. If FDA determines that labeling for these drug products should be revised to meet current standards, the Agency will advise ANDA applicants to submit such labeling.

establishments that collect blood and blood components with recommendations for questioning and deferring donors of blood and blood components, allowing their reentry, and product management to reduce the risk of transfusion-transmitted malaria. This guidance finalizes the draft guidance of the same title dated June 2012, and supersedes the FDA memorandum to all registered blood establishments entitled "Recommendations for Deferral of Donors for Malaria Risk" dated July 26, 1994. The recommendations contained in the guidance are not applicable to donors of Source Plasma.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a guidance document entitled "Guidance for Industry: Recommendations for Donor Questioning, Deferral, Reentry and Product Management to Reduce the Risk of Transfusion-Transmitted Malaria" dated August 2013. The guidance document provides blood establishments that collect blood and blood components with recommendations for questioning and deferring donors of blood and blood components, and allowing their reentry, to reduce the risk of transfusion-transmitted malaria. This guidance document also provides recommendations for product management, including recommendations regarding product retrieval and quarantine, and notification of consignees of blood and blood components in the event that a blood establishment determines that blood or blood components have been collected from a donor who should have been deferred due to possible malaria risk. Finally, the guidance contains recommendations on the implementation of FDA's recommendations, including how licensed blood establishments must report to FDA the changes made to their donor history questionnaires to reflect the new donor deferral recommendations.

In the Federal Register of July 6, 2012 (77 FR 40068), FDA announced the availability of the draft guidance of the same title dated June 2012. FDA received several comments on the draft guidance and those comments were considered as the guidance was finalized. Significant changes to the guidance include: revisions to the definition of malaria-endemic area, malaria-endemic country and other terms used to assess a donor's risk of malaria based on history of travel or residence; and revisions to the recommendations regarding consignee notification and reporting of biological product deviations for acellular blood components collected from a donor at risk for malaria. Based on the revised definition of malaria-endemic area and current epidemiological data, donors who travel to the Mexican States of Quintana Roo or Jalisco would be eligible for donation without any deferral, provided the donors meet all other eligibility criteria. However, if malaria transmission in these States changes over time, the donor deferral recommendations would encompass donors who travel to these areas. The guidance announced in this notice finalizes the draft guidance dated June 2012, and supersedes the FDA memorandum to all registered blood establishments entitled "Recommendations for Deferral of Donors for Malaria Risk," dated July 26, 1994.

The guidance is being issued consistent with FDA's good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents FDA's current thinking on this topic. It does not create or confer any rights for or on any person and does not operate to bind FDA or the public. An alternative approach may be used if such approach satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.
