Synopsis

I. Synopsis

1. In Expanding the Economic and Innovation Opportunities of Spectrum Through Incentive Auctions 77 FR 69934 November 21, 2012 (NPRM), the Commission sought public comment on creating a 600 MHz band plan from the spectrum made available for flexible use through the broadcast television incentive auction. Specifically, it proposed to use geographic area licensing to license the 600 MHz band using Economic Areas (EAs). The Commission also sought comment on whether it should use geographic areas larger or smaller than EAs, such as Cellular Market Areas (CMAs). Although a number of commenters support the Commission's proposal to license the 600 MHz band on an EA basis, some commenters argue that EA licenses are too large for small and rural operators to obtain at auction or deploy. Consequently, these commenters support licensing the 600 MHz band using CMAs. Others oppose using CMAs because they do not "nest" (i.e., fit neatly) within larger EA-based license areas and because using smaller license areas can frustrate a carrier's ability to acquire a larger footprint.

2. On November 27, 2013, the Competitive Carriers Association (CCA) submitted an alternative proposed scheme for smaller license areas based on a new geographic area size that CCA calls Partial Economic Areas (PEAs). Letter from Competitive Carriers Association to FCC at page 2 (Nov. 27, 2013) available at <http://apps.fcc.gov/ecfs/document/view?id=7520959815>. PEAs, as described by CCA, are a subdivision of EAs based on the CMA boundaries, which ensure that some licenses consist of large population centers while other PEAs consist of less populous areas. As a result, PEAs are smaller than EAs, and separate rural from urban markets to a greater degree than EAs. Unlike CMAs, the geographic boundaries are set so that they "nest" into the larger EAs. Although CCA continues to support CMAs as the optimal license size, it argues that PEAs are preferable to EAs in the 600 MHz band because PEAs would enable smaller and rural carriers to bid on portions of EAs to obtain more efficiently sized spectrum licenses. The counties contained in each PEA are listed in the appendix. On December 3, 2013, AT&T filed an ex parte letter urging the Commission to seek public comment on the PEA proposal and, as described further below, seek comment on how that proposal could be effectuated within a package-bidding framework. Letter from AT&T to FCC at page 3 (Dec. 3, 2013) available at <http://apps.fcc.gov/ecfs/document/view?id=7520960131>.

3. The Wireless Telecommunications Bureau (WTB) hereby seeks comment on CCA's proposed PEA licensing scheme, including the specific makeup and boundaries of the individual PEAs proposed by CCA. WTB encourages commenters to address the geographic area licensing issues raised in the NPRM, including the importance of using a license scheme that "nests" into EAs. We also seek comment on other new geographic licensing proposals that address the issues under consideration in this document. See, Letter from Rural Wireless Association and National Telecommunications Cooperative Association to FCC (Dec. 6, 2013) available at <http://apps.fcc.gov/ecfs/>

document/view?id=7520961063. In addition, to the extent parties may be interested in applying the PEA construct to other bands in which we are considering the issue of geographic license size, such as in Amendment of the Commission's Rules with Regard to Commercial Operations in the 1695–1710 MHz, 1755–1780 MHz, and 2155–2180 MHz Bands 78 FR 51559 August 20, 2013 (AWS–3 NPRM), WTB seeks comment on applying this approach.

4. As discussed above, larger carriers express concern that it is more difficult to acquire a national or regional footprint using smaller geographic area licenses. To address such concerns, and consistent with the statutory directive to consider assigning licenses that cover geographic areas of difference sizes, we seek comment on approaches that might enable interested parties to seek packages of 600 MHz licenses covering multiple PEAs. CCA and smaller carriers oppose the use of package bidding generally, and specifically with respect to a package of populous PEAs, contending that most packages would disproportionately burden rural and regional competitive carriers and undermine the benefits of the PEA hybrid proposal. CCA proposes that if the Commission adopts package bidding in conjunction with a PEA-based licensing approach, any package should be no more than the ten largest PEAs by population. AT&T, on the other hand, supports a national package bidding approach in conjunction with a PEA-based licensing approach, or at a minimum, a package that consists of the top 100 markets. Should the Commission offer geographic package bidding to 600 MHz auction bidders in conjunction with a PEA-based licensing approach? If so, how should the package(s) be composed? WTB seeks comment on these issues and, in particular, on the concept of a single package containing the top markets. WTB also seeks comment on the extent to which the licensing and package bidding concepts discussed herein may or may not affect the design of the incentive auction.

II. Procedural Matters
