

year for the other respondents to prepare for the new reporting requirement. Given the advanced notice and the resources available, the Federal Reserve will retain the current attestation requirement.

G. Specific Data Items

One commenter argued that disclosure of the items associated with the LCR could expose respondents to risks under U.S. securities laws because they are not based on a final regulatory standard. The commenter also argued that the market will inappropriately use the LCR-related data to assess the liquidity positions of respondents. Another commenter noted that liquidity rules would not be in effect until 2015 and suggested that the items related to liquidity not be collected until the final rules take effect.

The BCBS recently adopted a revised systemic risk calculation that no longer uses the LCR items collected in the previous version of the report. Taking into consideration this revision along with the comments received, the Federal Reserve will remove the following six items from Schedule D: Level 1 assets, subject to operational requirements; Securities in item 7 that are trading or AFS securities; Level 2 assets, with haircuts and subject to operational requirements; Securities in item 8 that are trading or AFS securities; Adjustment to high quality liquid assets (HQLA) due to caps on Level 2B and total Level 2 assets; and Amount of item 9 attributable to trading and AFS securities. The two LCR-related items that remain reflect the liquidity of the bank's trading and AFS securities. These items are not subject to the same confidentiality concerns since they can be reasonably estimated based on public FR Y-9C data.¹³ The Federal Reserve believes this more limited disclosure mitigates the risk of market participants trying to use systemic risk measures on the FR Y-15 to assess a firm's liquidity position. To avoid any potential misinterpretation, the Federal Reserve will remove the reference to HQLA in one of the remaining items (Total trading and AFS securities less HQLA).

One commenter asked that a de minimis exemption be considered for line items unique to the FR Y-15. Due to the rounding rules specified in the instructions (see General Instructions, Section C), amounts less than $500,000 are not reported when respondents choose to report their figures in millions. Therefore, a de minimis exemption already exists within the report. This exemption will be left unchanged.

Commenters asked for a number of technical clarifications regarding specific data items on the FR Y-15 form. The Federal Reserve has addressed these questions in the finalized version of the FR Y-15 instructions.
