SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a draft document entitled "Guidance for Industry: Clinical Data Needed to Support the Licensure of Pandemic Influenza Vaccines," dated March 2006. The draft guidance is intended to provide to sponsors of pandemic influenza vaccines guidance on clinical development approaches to facilitate and expedite the licensure of influenza vaccines for the prevention of disease caused by pandemic influenza viruses. The approaches apply to "split virus" and whole virus inactivated pandemic vaccines propagated in embryonated chicken eggs, and are also applicable to cell-culture derived, recombinant hemagglutinin-based protein, and adjuvanted pandemic influenza vaccines. The draft guidance provides recommendations for clinical data to support BLA approval either as a supplement or as a new BLA using the accelerated approval. The draft guidance also addresses live attenuated influenza vaccines, but does not address influenza vaccines that do not contain a hemagglutinin component. The draft guidance does not address the nonclinical development of investigational vaccines, or the chemistry, manufacturing, control, or inspection of the manufacturing facility needed for licensure.

The draft guidance is being issued consistent with FDA's good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The draft guidance, when finalized, will represent FDA's current thinking on this topic. It does not create or confer any rights for or on any person and does not operate to bind FDA or the public. An alternative approach may be used if such approach satisfies the requirement of the applicable statutes and regulations.
