AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: This notice announces receipt of a petition submitted by the Sierra Club and requests comments on issues raised by the petition. The petitioner is concerned about the risks of toy jewelry containing lead and requests that EPA take four actions under the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA). For CBI information in a disk or CD ROM that you mail to EPA, mark the outside of the disk or CD ROM as CBI and then identify electronically within the disk or CD ROM the specific information that is claimed CBI. In addition to one complete version of the comment that includes information claimed as CBI, a copy of the comment that does not contain the information claimed as CBI must be submitted for inclusion in the public docket. Information so marked will not be disclosed except in accordance with procedures set forth in 40 CFR part 2.

2. Tips for preparing your comments. When submitting comments, remember to:

- Identify the document by docket number and other identifying information (subject heading, Federal Register date and page number).

II. Background

A. What is a TSCA Section 21 Petition?

TSCA section 21 allows citizens to petition EPA to initiate a proceeding for the issuance, amendment, or repeal of a rule under TSCA section 4, 6, or 8 or an order under section 5(e) or 6(b)(2). A TSCA section 21 petition must set forth facts that the petitioner believes establish the need for the action requested. EPA is required to grant or deny the petition within 90 days of its filing. If EPA grants the petition, the Agency must promptly commence an appropriate proceeding. If EPA denies the petition, the Agency must publish its reasons for the denial in the Federal Register. Within 60 days of denial, or the expiration of the 90-day period, if no action is taken, the petitioner may commence a civil action in a U.S. district court to compel initiation of the requested rulemaking proceeding.

B. What Action is Requested Under this TSCA Section 21 Petition?

On April 21, 2006, the Sierra Club petitioned EPA to take four actions intended to reduce risks from toy jewelry containing lead. The Sierra Club defines toy jewelry as "any item that serves a decorative but no or minimal functional purpose that is valued at less than $20 per item." The requested actions are:

- Require TSCA section 8(d) health and safety data reporting for lead and lead salts.
- Submit a TSCA section 9 report to the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) regarding lead and lead salts.
- Issue a TSCA section 5 Significant New Use Rule regarding lead and lead salts in toy jewelry.
- Issue TSCA section 6(b) quality control orders regarding production of toy jewelry.

The petition also requested certain actions by CPSC, which will be considered by that agency.

The petition sets forth the following incidents in support of its requests. In February 2006, a child died from lead poisoning after ingesting toy jewelry that contained lead. In 2004, 4 importers recalled 150 million metal toy jewelry items pursuant to an agreement with CPSC. Another case of severe lead poisoning occurred from a toy necklace in 2003. Finally, the petition notes that both poisonings, and the recalled jewelry, concerned products distributed in violation of CPSC's 1998 Codification of Guidance Policy on Lead in Consumer Products.

The Sierra Club petition also refers to the federal government's goal of eliminating lead poisoning by 2010. It concludes that the current system is not working and that stronger action is needed if the federal government's goal is to be met.

The petitioner therefore asks EPA to take action under TSCA. EPA has commenced a review of this petition. Comments on the petition may be submitted by any of the methods identified in Unit I.

C. EPA Seeks Additional Information

In considering how to respond to the petition, EPA seeks a better factual understanding of the potential and actual risks to human health and the environment associated with lead in toy jewelry. Therefore, EPA seeks data and information regarding the potential risks to human health associated with lead in toy jewelry, including ongoing uses of lead in toy jewelry, the extent and degree of use, and other information.

Under TSCA section 21, which is applicable to requests for rulemaking proceedings under TSCA sections 6(b) and 8(d), the Agency must either grant or deny a petition within 90 days. Because the Agency must respond to the requests for action under TSCA sections 6(b) and 8(d) by July 20, 2006, EPA will allow the public until June 15, 2006 to reply with any additional information relevant to the issues identified below. EPA will carefully consider the requests for action under TSCA sections 5 and 9, and will respond to them at a later time. In assisting the Agency by supplying this additional information, please follow the procedures in Unit I.B.

In assessing the usability of any data or information that may be submitted, EPA plans to follow the guidelines in EPA's "A Summary of General Assessment Factors for Evaluating the Quality of Scientific and Technical Information" (EPA 100/B-03/001), referred to as the "Assessment Factors Document." This document is available at the following website: <http://www.epa.gov/osa/spc/assess.htm>. The Federal Register notice for this document is available at the following Web site: <http://www.epa.gov/fedrgstr/EPA-GENERAL/2003/July/Day-01/g16328.htm>.

In particular, EPA seeks information on the following:

- Quantitative information, data and/or reports (e.g., incident reports, recent scientific and technical studies) associated with the presence of lead in toy jewelry. This would include any information on how and why lead is used in toy jewelry, the extent and prevalence of lead in toy jewelry, and the concentrations of lead found in toy jewelry (including lead used by design or by inadvertent contamination). The Agency is also interested in information on the manner and methods of manufacturing, processing, distribution in commerce, and disposal of toy jewelry containing lead.

2. Quantitative information, data and/or case examples (e.g., incident reports, recent scientific and technical studies) associated with the health effects, particularly to children, from toy jewelry or similar objects containing lead. This would include any case studies or other information relating to exposure of human beings or the environment to lead in toy jewelry, particularly any exposure of children to lead in toy jewelry. Also useful would be information on exposure to lead in similar objects which are available to children via direct mouthing or ingestion, or hand-to-mouth behavior. This would include any studies or other information relating lead concentration or quantity to blood lead level or health effects.

3. Information on and evidence of quality control procedures for the manufacture, import, distribution, and sale of toy jewelry, particularly those procedures that would measure and monitor lead content of various components of toy jewelry. This would include information of the cost and effectiveness of these procedures.

4. Information on the availability, cost, and health effects of alternatives to lead in toy jewelry.

5. Information on whether the definition of toy jewelry used by the Sierra Club ("any item that serves a decorative but no or minimal functional purpose that is valued at less than $20 per item") is clear and otherwise appropriate.

IntraLATA carriers must submit a quarterly report listing payphone automatic number identifications (ANIs) to the interexchange carriers (IXCs). This will facilitate resolution of disputed ANIs in the per-call compensation context. The report allows interexchange carriers to determine which dial-around calls are made from payphones. Without provision of this report, resolution of disputed ANIs would be rendered very difficult. IXCs would not be able to discern which ANIs pertain to payphones and therefore would not be able to ascertain which dial-around calls were originated by payphones for compensation purposes. The data which must be maintained for at least 18 months after the close of a compensation period, and will facilitate verification of disputed ANIs.
