

both commercial and savings banks. The survey data provide a basis for measuring the competitive impact of bank mergers and has additional use in banking research. The data are collected as of close of business, June 30.

The proposed revisions to the SOD are described as follows: Financial institutions previously were required to report three (3) separate categories for deposits at each branch: (1) "Individual, partnership and corporation", (2) "other", and (3) "total". Now only one figure (total deposits) is required. This will lessen the reporting burden significantly. Reporters were always required to provide information on changes in address, relocations, new and purchased branches, and branches closed or sold. They were instructed to write the information on the form including type of facility and effective date of transaction. Reporting of changes has now been formalized by adding columns to report the effective date, type of transaction and type of facility. In addition to formalizing the reporting of changes, the new format will facilitate the automated interface of these changes to the Corporation's Structure database rather than doing them manually. The new SOD survey form will also facilitate electronic reporting of the Summary of Deposits survey in the future (1997) as well as be similar to the Thrift SOD survey provided in the Office of Thrift Supervision.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 28 of the FDIC Act (12 U.S.C. 1831e) imposes restrictions on the powers of savings associations which reduce the risk of loss to the insurance funds and eliminate some differences between the powers of state associations and those of federal associations. Some of the restrictions apply to all savings to all savings associations, some to state chartered associations only, and some to federally chartered associations only. The statute exempts some federal savings banks and associations from the restrictions, and provides for the FDIC to grant exemptions to other associations under certain circumstances. The applications for exemption constitute this collection of information.
