Proposed Projects

1. Prevention Marketing Initiative Community Demonstration Site Project Evaluation—(0920–0343)—Extension—The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for HIV, STD, and TB Prevention, Division of HIV/AIDS Prevention, Community Assistance, Planning, and National Partnership Branch's Prevention Communications unit is planning to conduct a longitudinal track study as part of the evaluation of a five-city HIV prevention demonstration program. This demonstration program is part of the CDC's national Prevention Marketing Initiative. The local demonstration program involves the integration of social marketing processes and community participation in an effort to develop and implement HIV prevention activities.

Community groups in the local demonstration sites have chosen to target people 25 years old and younger using a variety of intervention strategies. Decisions about the nature of local interventions are based on formative research conducted in each community. It is hoped that this demonstration project will result in reductions in HIV risk behavior among people 25 years old and younger, as well as enhanced collaboration among individuals and organizations in the participating communities.

To evaluate the effectiveness of the interventions, questionnaire data will be collected from people 25 years old and under in demonstration communities. These data will be collected before and after prevention activities and message campaigns are launched. A baseline survey is planned in Fall, 1996 under OMB NO. 0920–0343 (Evaluation of the National AIDS Information and Education Program Activities). The cost to respondents is estimated at $10,000.

Respondents	No. of respondents	No. of responses/ respondent	Average burden/ response (in hrs.)	Total burden (in hrs.)
Young people under 25 years of age in targeted prevention program communities	4,000	1	.25	1000
Total				1000
