

(1) The District of Columbia Department of Employment Services, the New York Department of Labor, the New Jersey Department of Labor, and the Texas Workforce Commission will be able to determine eligibility for unemployment compensation;

(2) The California State Department of Social Services will be able to determine eligibility status for the TANF program and the Food Stamps program;

(3) The California State Department of Health Services will be able to determine eligibility status for the Medicaid Program; and

(4) The Colorado Department of Human Services² will be able to determine the eligibility status for the Medicaid, TANF, and Food Stamps Programs.

Section 121(c) of IRCA amends Section 1137 of the Social Security and other statutes to require agencies which administer the Federal Benefits programs designated within IRCA to use the INS verification system to determine eligibility. Accordingly, through the use of user identification codes and passwords, authorized persons from these agencies may electronically access the database of an INS system of records entitled "Alien Status Verification Index, Justice/INS-009." From its automated records system, any agency (named above) participating in these matching programs may enter electronically into the INS database the alien registration number of the applicant or recipient. This action will initiate a search of the INS database for a corresponding alien registration number. Where such number is located, the agency will receive electronically from the INS database the following data upon which to determine eligibility: alien registration number, last name, first name, date of birth, country of birth, social security number (if available), date of entry, immigration status data, and employment eligibility data. In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(p), such agencies will provide the alien applicant with 30 days notice and an opportunity to contest any adverse finding before final action is taken against that alien because of ineligible immigration status as established through the computer match.

The original effective date of the matching programs was January 19, 1990, for which notice was published in the Federal Register on December 28, 1989 (54 FR 53382). The programs have continued to date under the authority of a series of new approvals as required by the CMPPA. The CMPPA provides that based upon approval by agency Data Integrity Boards of a new computer matching agreement, computer matching activities may be conducted for 18 months and, contingent upon specific conditions, may be similarly extended by the Board for an additional year without the necessity of a new agreement. The most recent one-year extension for those programs listed in items (1) through (4) above will expire on August 27, 1997. Therefore, with the exception of the California Department of Social Services matching program for which approval for the full 18-month period is contingent upon a favorable cost-benefit showing within 6 months from the effective date of the new agreement, the Department's Data Integrity Board has approved new agreements to permit the above-named computer matching programs to continue for another 18-month period from the effective date (described below).

Matching activities under the new agreements will be effective 30 days after publication of this computer matching notice in the Federal Register, or 40 days after a report concerning the computer matching program has been transmitted to the Office of Management and Budget, and transmitted to Congress along with a copy of the agreements, whichever is later. Except as noted above, the agreements (and matching activities) will continue for a period of 18 months from the effective date—unless, within 3 months prior to the expiration of the agreement, the Data Integrity Board approves a one-year extension pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(o)(2)(D).

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(o)(2)(A) and (r), the required report is being provided to the Office of Management and Budget, and to the Congress together with a copy of the agreements. Inquiries may be addressed to Patricia E. Neely, Program Analyst, Information Resources Management, Justice Management Division, Information Management and Security Staff, Department of Justice, Washington, DC. 20530.

Dated: July 18, 1997.

Stephen R. Colgate,

Assistant Attorney General for Administration.
