Administration, FEMA.

This updated list incorporates all changes made to the national master list since it was first published in 1992, and is current through July 21, 1997.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 2, 1997.

ADDRESSES: We invite comments on the master list which you may address to the Rules Docket Clerk, Office of the General Counsel, Federal Emergency Management Agency, 500 C Street SW., room 840, Washington, DC 20472, (facsimile) (202) 646-4536. To be added to the National Master List, or to make a change to the list, please see Supplementary Information below.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: John Ottoson, Fire Management Programs Branch, United States Fire Administration, Federal Emergency Management Agency, 16825 South Seton Avenue, Emmitsburg, MD 21727, (800) 238-3358, or FEMA's contractor, META, at (703) 243-3608.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Hotel and Motel Fire Safety Act of 1990 (15 U.S.C. 2201 note)(Act) was enacted by the Congress to save lives and protect property by promoting fire and life safety in hotels, motels and other places of public accommodation. The law encourages and eventually mandates that federal employees on travel must stay in public accommodations that adhere to the life safety requirements in the legislation guidelines. Similarly, federally sponsored or funded conferences cannot be held in hotels and motels or other facilities that do not meet the law's fire protection provisions.

The legislation gives hotels, motels, and other facilities an economic incentive to install lifesaving smoke detectors and automatic sprinkler systems. A hotel or motel or other facility that complies with the fire safety guidelines of the Act will be included in federal travel directories and have the opportunity to obtain government travel business.

Acting under the Hotel and Motel Fire Safety Act of 1990, the United States Fire Administration works with each State to compile a national master list of all of the places of public accommodation affecting commerce located in each State that meet the requirements of the guidelines under the Act. FEMA last published the national master list in the Federal Register on Friday, June 21, 1996, 61 FR 32036-32256, and published changes approximately monthly since then, except during the first half of fiscal year 1996. This is the fourth annual publication of the complete, updated national master list, and is current through July 21, 1997. FEMA will continue to publish changes to the national master list on an approximately monthly basis.

Parties wishing to be added to the national master list, or to make any other change, should contact the State office or official responsible for compiling listings of properties that comply with the Hotel and Motel Fire Safety Act. A list of State contacts was published in 58 FR 17020 on March 31, 1993, 59 FR 50132 on September 30, 1994, 59 FR 62174 on December 2, 1994, and 61 FR 32032 on June 21, 1996. The most recent list of State contacts is published as a separate part with this issue of the Federal Register. If the published list is unavailable to you, your State Fire Marshal's office can direct you to the appropriate office.

Copies of the national master list and its updates may be obtained by writing to the Government Printing Office, Superintendent of Documents, Washington, DC 20402-9325. When requesting copies please refer to stock number 069-001-00049-1, and ask for the July 1997 national master list dated August 1, 1997, and any subsequent updates.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

United States Fire Administration

Hotel Motel Fire Safety Act of 1990, National Master List

July 1997

As Printed in the Federal Register

Hotel and Motel Fire Safety Act of 1990; Summary of the LawSummary

The Hotel and Motel Fire Safety Act of 1990 (PL 101-391) was passed into law by Congress to save lives and protect property by promoting fire and life safety in hotels, motels and other places of public accommodation. The law encourages and eventually mandates that federal employees on travel must stay in public accommodations that adhere to the life safety requirements in the legislation guidelines. Similarly, federally sponsored or funded conferences cannot be held in hotels and motels that do not meet the law's fire protection provisions.

The premise of the legislation is simple. Its underlying purpose is to give hotels and motels substantial economic incentive to install lifesaving smoke detectors and automatic sprinkler systems. A hotel or motel that complies with the fire safety guidelines of PL 101-391 will continue to be included in federal travel directories and have the opportunity to pursue government travel business.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) provides the National Master List listing places of public accommodation which meet the fire prevention and control guidelines under PL 101-391.

Inclusion on the List

Acting under PL 101-391, the United States Fire Administration (USFA) has worked with each state to compile the National Master List of all the places of public accommodation affecting commerce located in each state that meet the requirements of the guidelines under the Act. FEMA published the National Master List in the Federal Register on November 24, 1992 and has published updates to the list monthly since then. The list is printed in its entirety annually.

Parties wishing to be added to the National Master List, or to make any changes should contact the State office or official responsible for compiling listings of properties which comply with the Hotel and Motel Fire Safety Act. A list of State contacts is included in this publication.
