

Even if EPA has published a proposed change in designation from attainment/maintenance to nonattainment, the amount of emissions associated with the reuse alternatives would not change. Air impacts would still be significant and the Port of Oakland would still need to evaluate additional mitigation measures in project-specific CEQA documents. The more stringent emission restrictions normally associated with nonattainment designations are not applicable to the Navy's proposed action as federal disposal actions are exempt from application of the Clean Air Act's Conformity provisions.

The Environmental Law Clinic expressed concern that, contrary to the analysis in the FEIS/EIR, minority and low income residents of West Oakland were disproportionately and adversely affected by air emissions from the proposed port redevelopment. As discussed in the FEIS/EIR, ozone precursor and particulate emissions from motor vehicle, rail, and ship traffic would occur over a broad dispersed geographic area, and therefore would not result in a localized impact on West Oakland neighborhoods. Particulate emissions during demolition and construction will be controlled, eliminating any adverse impacts on the West Oakland community during the construction phase. Impacts associated with the proposed redevelopment therefore would not be disproportionately high and adverse.

The Environmental Law Clinic also commented that the FEIS/EIR did not include mitigation for impacts to shorebirds from the Port's Vision 2000 Program. Suitable habitat for shorebirds is very limited in the area. Impacts identified in the FEIS/EIR are so limited that mitigation is not required.

Conclusion

Of the 528-acre FISC Oakland property, about 392 acres will revert to the Port. The remaining nonreversionary property, 136 acres, is currently leased to the Port by way of a 50-year lease. Although the "No action" alternative has less potential for causing adverse environmental impacts, it would not permit efficient use of the nonreversionary Navy property.

Navy's conveyance of the nonreversionary property to the Port would allow the Port to reuse and redevelop the entire FISC Oakland property efficiently, with other nearby property, in a manner consistent with the "port priority use" designation of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission and the Metropolitan Transportation Commission. Additionally, disposal of the property relieves Navy of the burden of owning, managing, and maintaining property that it no longer needs.

Accordingly, Navy will dispose of the FISC Oakland property by conveying it to the Port of Oakland pursuant to Section 2867 of Public Law 104-106.

Dated: August 28, 1997.

Robert B. Pirie, Jr.,

Assistant Secretary of the Navy, (Installations And Environment).
