Interior.

ACTION: Notice of document availability and public comment period.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service announces the availability for public review of the technical/agency draft recovery plan for Eggert's

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Restoring endangered or threatened animals or plants to the point where they are again secure, self-sustaining members of their ecosystems is a primary goal of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's endangered species program. To help guide the recovery effort, the Service is working to prepare recovery plans for most of the listed species native to the United States.
Recovery plans describe actions considered necessary for conservation of the species, establish criteria for recognizing the recovery levels for downlisting or delisting them, and estimate time and cost for implementing the recovery measures needed.

The Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) (Act), requires the development of recovery plans for listed species unless such a plan would not promote the conservation of a particular species. Section 4(f) of the Act, as amended in 1988, requires that a public notice and an opportunity for a public review and comment be provided during recovery plan development. The Service will consider all information presented during a public comment period prior to approval of each new or revised recovery plan. The Service and other Federal agencies will also take these comments into account in the course of implementing approved recovery plans.

Based upon available information concerning the range, biology, and threats to its continued survival, it is not yet possible to determine if or when full recovery of Eggert's sunflower is possible. Accordingly, this draft recovery plan outlines a mechanism that provides for the protection and maintenance of all known populations, with emphasis on determining the autecological factors necessary to manage the species. Eggert's sunflower was officially listed as an endangered species in 1996, primarily because of loss of habitat, competition from invasive exotic and other competitive plants, fire suppression, and other detrimental impacts that result from site disturbance. Comments and information provided during this review will be used in preparing the final recovery plan.

Public Comments Solicited

The Service solicits written comments on the recovery plan described. All comments received by the date specified above will be considered prior to approval of the plan.

Authority

The authority for this action is section 4(f) of the Endangered Species Act, 16 U.S.C. 1533(f).

Dated: June 2, 1998.

Brian P. Cole,

State Supervisor.

The industrial and commercial facilities planned for the CRRP are intended to be environmentally responsible industries which individually and collectively implement practical solutions to environmental and waste management problems of several types. The integrated nature of the various types of facilities planned is such that the output of some facilities would provide input to others, enhancing the overall efficiency and effectiveness of both the waste management and manufacturing projects. Existing projects and those in development or proposed include a biomass power plant, a biosolids recycling plant, a contaminated soil recycling plant, a tire recycling and remanufacturing plant, a nickel wire recycling and manufacturing plant, a waste food and green waste recycling facility, an aquaculture facility, a materials recovery facility, a gasification facility, a metals reclamation facility, a used oil recovery refinery, a catalytic converter platinum recovery facility, construction and demolition materials recovery facility, a fuels and chemicals storage and distribution facility, a plant making speciality glass products from reclaimed glass, a hazardous waste and hazardous commodity processing and transfer facility, and associated support infrastructure (railyards, sewage treatment, etc.). The project will meet all applicable environmental standards and regulations.

The project is located in the Coachella Valley approximately one mile northwest of the unincorporated town of
