

was reviewed by a SAMHSA review group was not successful in being funded.

SAMHSA is providing requirements on revised and resubmitted applications in the interest of efficiency and fairness. If an application, in response to a PA, is a revision of one previously submitted and reviewed, the following instructions must be followed.

Applicants may wish to consult with the appropriate SAMHSA program staff named in the PA before rewriting and resubmitting the application.

The instructions set out below are to be followed for revised and resubmitted applications.

1. Resubmitted applications which are essentially identical to prior ones will not be accepted for review and will be returned to the applicant. Revisions in resubmitted applications must be significant and be readily identifiable as explained below.

2. In an "Introduction" section that precedes the Table of Contents and does not exceed two (2) pages, identify the original application by number and indicate the receipt date for which it was previously submitted. If there is a different project director named on the revised application, note this as well.

3. Summarize in the "Introduction" any substantive additions, deletions, and changes that have been made to the application. Using the summary statement, which provides feedback on the review of the application, include responses to questions, criticisms or weaknesses communicated. Incorporate any work that affects the proposed project that occurred since the prior version of the application was submitted. The "Introduction" will not be counted against the total page limit of the application.

4. Within the text of the application, identify the changes either by appropriate bracketing, indenting, or changing of typography. DO NOT indicate changes by underlining or shading.

A revised application will be returned if an "Introduction" is not included and/or substantial revisions are not apparent. The revised and resubmitted application will be reviewed in its entirety. Review committee members will be instructed to review all aspects of the revised application, not just areas that have been changed. Acceptance of a revised application automatically withdraws the prior version and the score assigned to it.

Whenever possible and appropriate, the revised application will be reviewed by the same committee that reviewed the previous application. The Director, Division of Extramural Activities, Policy and Review, SAMHSA will make the final assignment to a review committee. Revised applications will be reviewed in accordance with the same policies and procedures as all other applications contemporaneously reviewed by the committee.
