

information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses.

Burden Statement: The estimated average burden for renewing the existing Part A ICR is approximately 25 hours per respondent for submitting a new Part A permit application and approximately 15 hours for submitting a revised Part A permit application. The burden estimates for the Part A ICR includes time for reading the regulations, preparing and submitting initial and revised Part A permit applications, preparing and submitting justifications for changes and preparing and submitting subpart H compliance demonstrations.

For Part A permit applications, EPA estimates that the number of respondents per year is 10 for new Part A permit applications and 49 for Part A revisions. For these ICRs, collection occurs one-time per respondent, unless regulations are revised and promulgated. Timing of the submission of the notification and the Part A permit application forms are variable depending on the status of the respondent and the timing of the promulgation of the regulations. The estimated total annual burden on respondents for new and revised Part A permit applications is 893 hours. These estimates of total annual burden reflect a decrease in burden of 5.5% for Part A permit applications when compared with the previously approved ICR (1999).

Burden means the total time, effort, or financial resources expended by persons to generate, maintain, retain, or disclose or provide information to or for a Federal agency. This includes the time needed to review instructions; develop, acquire, install, and utilize technology and systems for the purposes of collecting, validating, and verifying information, processing and maintaining information, and disclosing and providing information; adjust the existing ways to comply with any previously applicable instructions and requirements; train personnel to be able to respond to a collection of information; search data sources; complete and review the collection of information; and transmit or otherwise disclose the information.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Title: Public Water Systems Supervision Program: Public Notification Amendment (OMB Control No. 2040-0090; EPA ICR No. 0270.41) expiring June 30, 2002. This is a request for an revision of a currently approved collection.

Abstract: The 2001 PWSS Program ICR, approved by OMB in November 2001, was the result of a consolidation of some rules and activities covered in the 1993 PWSS ICR and activities and rules previously covered in other standalone ICRs. This ICR amends the 2001 PWSS Program ICR by incorporating the Public Notification ICR (EPA ICR No. 1898.02, OMB No. 2040-0209). The amendment revises the burden estimate for public notification regulations, as required by sections 1414(a)(1) and (a)(2) of the Safe Drinking Water Act. Public water systems are required to give notification to all persons served when a violation of EPA drinking water standards occurs and for other situations posing a risk to health. EPA regulations define the form, manner, frequency, and content of the notices. Ensuring implementation of these requirements by public water systems is principally a responsibility of the States, territories and tribes that have assumed primary enforcement responsibility (primacy) for public water systems under SDWA section 1413.

An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB control numbers for EPA's regulations are listed in 40 CFR part 9 and 48 CFR chapter 15. The Federal Register document required under 5 CFR 1320.8(d), soliciting comments on this collection of information was published on January 4, 2002 (67 FR 585-586), no comments were received.

Burden Statement: The annual public reporting and recordkeeping burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 3.1 hours per response. Burden means the total time, effort, or financial resources expended by persons to generate, maintain, retain, or disclose or provide information to or for a Federal agency. This includes the time needed to review instructions; develop, acquire, install, and utilize technology and systems for the purposes of collecting, validating, and verifying information, processing and maintaining information, and disclosing and providing information; adjust the existing ways to comply with any previously applicable instructions and requirements; train personnel to be able to respond to a collection of information; search data sources; complete and review the collection of information; and transmit or otherwise disclose the information.

Respondents/Affected Entities: Public Water Systems and Primacy Agencies.

Estimated Number of Respondents: 44,319.

Frequency of Response: varies by tier.

Estimated Total Annual Hour Burden: 785,590 hours.

Estimated Total Annualized Capital, O&M Cost Burden: $4,731,000.

Send comments on the Agency's need for this information, the accuracy of the provided burden estimates, and any suggested methods for minimizing respondent burden, including through the use of automated collection techniques to the addresses listed above. Please refer to EPA ICR No. 0270.41 and OMB Control No. 2040-0090 in any correspondence.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Title: Drinking Water Customer Satisfaction Survey; EPA ICR No. 2016.01. This is a new collection.

Abstract: The Office of Ground Water and Drinking Water is planning to conduct a customer satisfaction survey on the effectiveness of its right-to-know efforts required under the Safe Drinking Water Act. The Safe Drinking Water Act requires EPA to ensure drinking water information is made available to the general public. This survey will allow the EPA to evaluate current public awareness initiatives for disseminating drinking water information to the public. Conducting this survey will help the EPA assess general customer perceptions and habits concerning drinking water. By gauging the effectiveness of current outreach activities, the Agency will measure whether information efforts are meeting customer needs. The Agency will also gain insight on how to improve the way this information is disseminated in the future. The information collected will involve 1250 randomly selected adults from the general public. Of the 1250 respondents, EPA estimates that there will be approximately 250 screening-only respondents and 1000 respondents that will complete the full survey. The survey will be conducted by the Gallup organization under contract to EPA. The selected individuals will be asked specific questions concerning general consumer awareness issues, consumer confidence reports (annual water quality reports), source water assessments, and customer preferences with respect to mechanisms for receiving information. In addition, the survey asks demographic questions about factors that may be drivers of satisfaction. These factors include consumer perceptions of water quality, concerns about taste and odor, and whether consumers already drink bottled water or filter their tap water. The survey instrument is a voluntary telephone questionnaire, averaging 11 minutes, that covers approximately 26 questions. EPA will only conduct this survey once during the period for which the ICR is in effect. An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB control numbers for EPA's regulations are listed in 40 CFR part 9 and 48 CFR chapter 15. The Federal Register document required under 5 CFR 1320.8(d), soliciting comments on this collection of information was published on October 29, 2001 (66 FR 209); 62 comments were received.

Burden Statement: The annual public reporting and recordkeeping burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 11 minutes per response. Burden means the total time, effort, or financial resources expended by persons to generate, maintain, retain, or disclose or provide information to or for a Federal agency. This includes the time needed to review instructions; develop, acquire, install, and utilize technology and systems for the purposes of collecting, validating, and verifying information, processing and maintaining information, and disclosing and providing information; adjust the existing ways to comply with any previously applicable instructions and requirements; train personnel to be able to respond to a collection of information; search data sources; complete and review the collection of information; and transmit or otherwise disclose the information.
