[Docket No. FV00-945-2 FR]

Irish Potatoes Grown in Certain Designated Counties in Idaho, and Malheur County, Oregon, and Irish Potatoes Imported Into the United States; Modification of Handling and Import Regulations

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule removes the reference to Norgold variety potatoes from the handling regulation issued under the marketing order for Idaho-Eastern Oregon potatoes. The Norgold variety was specifically referenced to establish less restrictive maturity requirements for early season shipments. However, Norgold variety potatoes are no longer produced in the production area covered under the marketing order and the less restrictive requirements are not needed. As required under section 608e of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, the maturity requirements for potato imports are changed accordingly.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This final rule becomes effective December 2, 2002.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final rule is issued under Marketing Agreement No. 98 and Marketing Order No. 945, both as amended (7 CFR part 945), regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in certain designated counties in Idaho, and Malheur County, Oregon, hereinafter referred to as the "order." The order is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), hereinafter referred to as the "Act."

This rule also is issued under section 608e of the Act, which provides that whenever certain specified commodities, including potatoes, are regulated under a Federal marketing order, imports of these commodities into the United States are prohibited unless they meet the same or comparable grade, size, quality, or maturity requirements as those in effect for the domestically produced commodities.

The Department of Agriculture (USDA) is issuing this rule in conformance with Executive Order 12866.

This rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12988, Civil Justice Reform. This action is not intended to have retroactive effect. This rule will not preempt any State or local laws, regulations, or policies, unless they present an irreconcilable conflict with this rule.

The Act provides that administrative proceedings must be exhausted before parties may file suit in court. Under section 608c(15)(A) of the Act, any handler subject to an order may file with USDA a petition stating that the order, any provision of the order, or any obligation imposed in connection with the order is not in accordance with law and request a modification of the order or to be exempted therefrom. A handler is afforded the opportunity for a hearing on the petition. After the hearing USDA would rule on the petition. The Act provides that the district court of the United States in any district in which the handler is an inhabitant, or has his or her principal place of business, has jurisdiction to review USDA's ruling on the petition, provided an action is filed not later than 20 days after the date of the entry of the ruling.

There are no administrative procedures which must be exhausted prior to any judicial challenge to the provisions of import regulations issued under section 608e of the Act.

Sections 945.51 and 945.52 of the order provide authority for the establishment and modification of regulations applicable to the handling of potatoes. Section 945.341 establishes minimum maturity and pack requirements for potatoes handled subject to the order. Requirements in effect prior to this final rule provided, in part, that all potatoes packed in cartons were to be inspected and certified as meeting U.S. No. 1 grade or better. All varieties were to meet the maturity requirement of slightly skinned (except the Norgold variety from August 1-15, and the White Rose and red skinned varieties from August 1-December 31 were allowed to be moderately skinned). During other periods of the year, the White Rose and red skinned varieties are not subject to maturity requirements. Size is to be conspicuously marked on all cartons (except when used as a master container). The grade requirements are based on the U.S. Standards for Grades of Potatoes (7 CFR 51.1540-51.1566), and the size must be marked consistent with section 51.1545 of these standards.

The Idaho-Eastern Oregon Potato Committee (Committee), the agency responsible for local administration of the order, met on November 9, 1999, and unanimously recommended the removal of reference to Norgold variety potatoes from the handling regulations.

Prior to this final rule, the Norgold variety of potatoes was specifically referenced in the handling regulations so a less restrictive maturity requirement (moderately skinned) could be applied during a 15-day period (August 1-August 15) at the beginning of each shipping season. This rule removes the reference to Norgold potatoes as a separate variety from the minimum maturity requirements of the handling regulations. As required under section 608e of the Act, the maturity requirements for potato imports are changed accordingly. This rule also removes outdated language and makes other conforming changes to the handling and import regulations. The Committee recommended this change in the regulations because Norgold variety potatoes are no longer produced in the production area.

Production of this long type variety was discontinued due in part to the Norgold variety's inherent propensity to have lighter, thinner skin early in the season compared to the varieties produced today. Newer replacement varieties are less prone to early season maturity problems, which enables the industry to maintain a consistent maturity level throughout the entire shipping season.

In addition, buyers are accustomed to long type potatoes having a higher maturity level than this minimum requirement allowed. To meet buyer expectations, all varieties of long type potatoes currently produced are required to be of a higher maturity level (slightly skinned) throughout the marketing year. The degree of skinning or maturity is differentiated by the amount of loss of the outer surface or skin layer. "Slightly skinned" means that up to 10 percent of the potatoes in any inspected lot can have one-fourth of the outer skin missing, while "moderately skinned" potatoes can have one-half of the skin missing.

This change will not have any economic impact upon producers or handlers, as it simply updates the handling regulations to recognize that the Norgold variety is no longer being produced within the production area.

As mentioned earlier, section 608e of the Act requires that when certain domestically produced commodities, including Irish potatoes, are regulated under a Federal marketing order, imports of that commodity must meet the same or comparable grade, size, quality, or maturity requirements. Section 608e also provides that whenever two or more marketing orders regulating the same commodity produced in different areas of the United States are concurrently in effect, a determination must be made as to which of the areas produces the commodity in most direct competition with the imported commodity. Imports must then meet the minimum requirements established for that particular area.

Grade, size, quality, and maturity regulations have been issued regularly under the order since it was established. The import regulation in § 980.1 specifies that import requirements for long type potatoes be based on those in effect for potatoes grown in certain designated counties in Idaho, and Malheur County, Oregon, during each month of the marketing year. This rule removes reference to Norgold variety potatoes from the maturity requirements of the handling regulation.

While no changes are required in the language of § 980.1, any potential imports of long type potatoes, including the Norgold variety, during the period from August 1–15 will be required to meet the modified maturity requirement of "slightly skinned."

This rule is not expected to have any economic impact upon importers. Nearly all potato imports come from Canada, and representatives of USDA's Market News Service have indicated that their contacts in Canada have reported that Norgold variety potatoes are no longer commercially produced in Canada.

This rule also removes § 945.130 of the rules and regulations which is obsolete, and revises and updates language in § 980.1, Import regulations; Irish potatoes. Sections 945.22 and 945.23 of the order, regarding committee membership districts within the production area and redistricting and committee reapportionment, were amended on June 5, 1995 (60 FR 29724), and § 945.130 is no longer needed. In addition, this rule removes references in the potato import regulation to the terminated marketing orders for Red River Valley and Maine potatoes, removes outdated language regarding import regulations in effect during 1970 and 1971, updates the list and addresses of inspection offices for imports, and updates the references in the import regulation to government agencies.

Final Regulatory Flexibility Analysis

Pursuant to the requirements set forth in the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), the Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) has considered the economic impact of this action on small entities. Accordingly, AMS has prepared this final regulatory flexibility analysis.

The purpose of the RFA is to fit regulatory actions to the scale of business subject to such actions in order that small businesses will not be unduly or disproportionately burdened. Marketing orders issued pursuant to the Act, and rules issued thereunder, are unique in that they are brought about through group action of essentially small entities acting on their own behalf. Thus, both statutes have small entity orientation and compatibility. Import regulations issued under the Act are based on those established under Federal marketing orders.

There are approximately 63 handlers of Idaho-Eastern Oregon potatoes subject to regulation under the order and about 1,600 potato producers in the regulated area. There are approximately 161 importers of potatoes. Small agricultural service firms, which include potato handlers and importers, are defined by the Small Business Administration (13 CFR 121.201) as those having annual receipts of less than $5,000,000, and small agricultural producers are defined as those whose annual receipts are less than $750,000. A majority of these handlers, importers, and producers may be classified as small entities.

This rule removes the reference to Norgold variety potatoes from the maturity requirements in the handling regulation. The Norgold variety was specifically referenced to establish less restrictive maturity requirements for early season shipments. However, Norgold variety potatoes are no longer produced in the production area covered under the marketing order. As required under section 608e of the Act, the maturity requirements for potato imports are also changed.

The Committee met on November 9, 1999, and unanimously recommended the removal of the reference to Norgold variety potatoes from the handling regulations.

Prior to this final rule, the Norgold variety of potatoes was specifically referenced in the handling regulations so a less restrictive maturity requirement (moderately skinned) could be applied during a 15-day period (August 1–15) at the beginning of each shipping season. This final rule removes the reference to Norgold potatoes as a separate variety from the minimum maturity requirements of the handling regulations. As earlier stated, the Committee recommended this change in the regulations because Norgold variety potatoes are no longer produced in the production area. In addition, buyers have become accustomed to long type potatoes (such as Norgold variety potatoes) having a higher maturity level than this minimum requirement allowed. To meet buyer expectations, all varieties of long type potatoes currently produced are required to be of a higher maturity level (slightly skinned) throughout the marketing year. "Slightly skinned" means that up to 10 percent of the potatoes in any inspected lot can have one-fourth of the outer skin missing, while "moderately skinned" potatoes can have one-half of the skin missing. This change will not have any economic impact upon producers or handlers, as it simply updates the handling regulations to recognize that the Norgold variety is no longer being produced within the production area.

As mentioned earlier, section 608e of the Act requires that when certain domestically produced commodities, including Irish potatoes, are regulated under a Federal marketing order, imports of that commodity must meet the same or comparable grade, size, quality, or maturity requirements. The current import regulation specifies that import requirements for long type potatoes be based on those in effect for potatoes grown in certain designated counties in Idaho, and Malheur County, Oregon, during each month of the marketing year. This rule removes reference to Norgold variety potatoes from the maturity requirements of the handling regulation. While no changes are required in the language of § 980.1, all potential imports of long type potatoes, including the Norgold variety, during the period from August 1–15 would be required to meet the modified maturity requirement of “slightly skinned.”

This rule is not expected to have an economic impact upon importers as there are currently no potato imports during the period of August 1–15. In addition, representatives of the USDA Market News Service have indicated that their contacts in Canada have reported that Norgold variety potatoes are no longer commercially produced in Canada. Nearly all potato imports come from Canada, but there are no shipments until the latter part of September.

The removal of the references to Norgold variety potatoes is not expected to impose any additional costs on handlers, importers, or producers.

As an alternative to this rule, the Committee discussed leaving the handling regulations unchanged. The Committee rejected this idea because it would have left outdated language in the rules and regulations.

This rule does not impose any additional reporting or recordkeeping requirements on either small or large potato handlers and importers. As with all Federal marketing order programs, reports and forms are periodically reviewed to reduce information requirements and duplication by industry and public sectors. USDA has not identified any relevant Federal rules that duplicate, overlap, or conflict with this final rule.

Further, the Committee’s meeting was widely publicized throughout the potato industry, and all interested persons were invited to attend the meeting and participate in Committee deliberations. Like all Committee meetings, the November 9, 1999, meeting was a public meeting and all entities, both large and small, were able to express their views on this issue.

A proposed rule concerning this action was published in the Federal Register on July 23, 2002 (67 FR 48051). A copy of the rule was mailed to the Committee’s manager who in turn provided copies to all Committee members. The proposed rule was also made available through the Internet by the Office of the Federal Register and USDA. A 60-day comment period ending September 23, 2002, was provided to allow interested persons the opportunity to respond to the proposal as well as to submit information on the regulatory and informational impacts of the action on small businesses. No comments were received.

A small business guide on complying with fruit, vegetable, and specialty crop marketing agreements and orders may be viewed at the following Web site: <http://www.ams.usda.gov/fv/moab.html>. Any questions about the compliance guide should be sent to Jay Guerber at the previously mentioned address in the FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT section.

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including the information and recommendation submitted by the Committee and other available information, it is hereby found that this rule, as hereinafter set forth, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act.

In accordance with section 608e of the Act, the United States Trade Representative has concurred with the issuance of this rule.
