

research is to be innovative when compared to technologies that are currently being implemented and demonstrated at the commercial-scale. Additionally, the offered projects need to have successfully completed laboratory/bench-scale or prior pilot-scale testing and these results are required to clearly demonstrate the technology's capabilities and cost benefits. The applications should address the NO_x research priorities identified by the joint Department of Energy, the Electric Power Research Institute, and the Coal Utilization Research Council Clean Coal Technology Roadmap: <http://www.netl.doe.gov/coalpower/ccpi/pubs/CCT-Roadmap.pdf>.

DATES: The funding opportunity announcement will be available on the "Industry Interactive Procurement System" (IIPS) Web page located at <http://e-center.doe.gov> on or about February 13, 2004. Applicants can obtain access to the funding opportunity announcement from the address above or through DOE/NETL's Web site at <http://www.netl.doe.gov/business>.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mary Price, MS 921-107, U.S. Department of Energy, National Energy Technology Laboratory, P.O. Box 10940, 626 Cochran Mill Road, E-mail Address: Mary.Price@netl.doe.gov, Telephone Number: 412-386-6179.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The funding opportunity announcement addresses the need for strategic research, development, and testing of efficient, cost-effective NO_x control technologies, processes and concepts that are to be retrofitted to existing pulverized coal-fired electric utility boilers. This effort is to focus primarily on combustion systems capable of controlling NO_x emissions to a level below 0.15 lbs/million Btu and advanced SCR concepts that achieve 90% NO_x reductions based on inlet NO_x levels of 0.10 to 0.40 lbs/million Btu. A levelized cost savings on a dollar-per-ton of NO_x removed of at least 25% over the current state-of-the-art SCR should be demonstrated by these technologies. The applications should also address the impact of these advanced technologies on related issues such as unburned carbon, waterwall wastage, heat transfer surface fouling, sulfur trioxide generation, and mercury speciation and capture where appropriate.

In conducting this development effort, data is sought to: (1) Verify technology performance in terms of NO_x reduction, (2) determine preliminary process/equipment and operating costs, (3) quantify potential balance-of-plant (BOP) impacts, (4) develop process monitoring/control tools to assist in management of NO_x control equipment, and (5) measure and assess potential mercury control associated with multiple pollutant or co-control technology.

This announcement focuses on the following program areas of interest: (1) Advanced Combustion Concepts; (2) SCR Catalyst Developments; and (3) Enhanced Mercury Oxidation in the Combustor. Applications can only be submitted to one of these three areas of interest. Approximately $3,500,000 in total funding is expected to be available under this announcement and the DOE anticipates awarding between three and six cooperative agreements. A cost share commitment of at least 25 percent from non-federal sources is required for research and development projects.

ACTION: Notice of availability of a Funding Opportunity Announcement.

SUMMARY: Notice is hereby given of the intent to issue, on behalf of the DOE Office of Energy Assurance (OEA), Funding Opportunity Announcement No. DE-PS26-04NT42071 entitled Development of Technologies for Assurance of the U.S. Energy Infrastructure. The funding opportunity announcement will request applicants to submit proposals in any of three Areas of Interest: 1. Physical Security, 2. Cyber Security, and 3. Modeling, Simulation and Analysis. Technologies proposed in the Areas of Interest should protect the critical energy infrastructure. Critical infrastructures are systems, such as the United States' energy system, whose extensive incapacity or destruction would have a debilitating impact on the defense and economic security of our Nation. For the purposes of this funding opportunity announcement, the scope of the energy infrastructure shall be limited to the following: Electrical Delivery Assets (Non-nuclear central generation facilities, including fossil-fired and hydroelectric plants; High-voltage transmission equipment, including critical substations, switchyards and transmission towers; Low-voltage distribution assets, including related substations and switchyards; End user & on-site generation equipment; Control-and-command assets, such as SCADA (Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition) and communications and monitoring systems associated with electrical delivery). Fuel Processing & Storage Assets (Refineries; Mid-stream natural gas processing plants located at the end of gathering systems and interstate pipelines; Natural gas storage facilities, including underground areas (aquifers, depleted oil and gas fields, and salt caverns); Liquid storage facilities, including above-ground facilities for storing LNG (liquid natural gas), facilities for storing LPG (liquid petroleum gases)-propane, ethane, etc., retail gasoline facilities and oil/gas tank farms; and, Control-and-command assets, such as SCADA and communications and monitoring systems associated with fuel processing and storage). Delivery Systems (Natural gas pipelines, including compression stations and hubs; Liquid pipelines and pumping stations delivering/pumping crude oil, refined products, or LPG; Control-and-command assets, such as SCADA and communications and monitoring systems associated with delivery systems). Exploration and Production (Onshore production facilities and Offshore production facilities).
