Federal Student Aid

Type of Review: New.

Title: Documents Associated with the Notice of Terms and Conditions of Purchase of Loans under the Ensuring Continued Access to Student Loans Act of 2008.

Abstract: As one of several measures intended to address concerns about the availability of loans under the Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program during the 2008–2009 academic year, the Ensuring Continued Access to Student Loans Act of 2008 (ECASLA) provides the Department of Education (the Department) with temporary authority to purchase student loans from FFEL Program lenders. The documents included in this collection set forth the terms and conditions of the loan purchase program authorized by the ECASLA and collect the information from lenders that is required by the Department to administer the program.

Additional Information

The U.S. Department of Education (Department) requests that OMB grant an emergency clearance by June 27, 2008 for Loan Purchase Program information collection documents associated with the newly authorized authority to purchase loans, as per the Ensuring Continued Access to Student Loans Act of 2008 ("ECASLA"):

1. Master Participation Agreement, with exhibits;
2. Master Loan Sale Agreement, with exhibits; and
3. Additional documents forthcoming specifying data intended to be collected.

Section 459A of the Higher Education Act ("HEA"), signed into law on May 7, 2008, provides that the Secretary of Education, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Director of the Office of Management and Budget must jointly determine the terms and conditions of this newly authorized loan purchase program. These information collection documents set forth those terms and aid in the administration of the program.

The Loan Purchase Program was established under the HEA by the ECASLA. Congress passed this law to remedy market conditions threatening the ability of student lenders to make student loans for the 2008–2009 academic year. While loans for the academic year can be originated as early as May, the bulk of originations occur during the period from July through August. To ensure that student lenders are able to utilize the Loan Purchase Program, the Documents must be reviewed by lenders in advance of final publication of the Notice of Terms and Conditions of Purchase of Loans under the Ensuring Continued Access to Student Loans Act of 2008. As such, the lending community must have final, approved versions of the Documents no later than June 27, 2008 to ensure that they will be able to utilize the Loan Purchase Program in time for the 2008–2009 academic year. The Department thus requests emergency clearance because the regular clearance process would not enable us to make an OMB-approved set of Documents available to lenders seeking to make student loans during the 2008–2009 academic year.

Upon receiving emergency clearance of the Documents, the Department will submit the ECASLA Loan Purchase Program documents for regular clearance process, including notice of a 60-day public comment period.
