

Total Annual Burden: 18,000 hours.

Total Annual Cost: $600,000.

Nature and Extent of Confidentiality:

An assurance of confidentiality is not offered because this information collection does not involve the collection of personally identifiable information by the government from individuals.

Privacy Impact Assessment: No impacts(s).

Needs and Uses: The Commission seeks to extend OMB approval of OMB Control Number 3060–1182 for a period of three years. The interim rules containing these collections, which were adopted in the IP CTS Interim Order, published at 78 FR 8032, February 5, 2013, will remain in effect until the corresponding final rules, adopted by the Commission in the IP CTS Reform Order, published at 78 FR 53684, August 30, 2013, take effect. On December 6, 2013, the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit granted in part a motion by Sorenson Communications, Inc. (Sorenson) seeking a stay of certain of the final rules. See Sorenson Communications, Inc. and CaptionCall, LLC v. FCC, D.C. Cir., No. 13–1246, December 6, 2013, at 1–2 (Stay Order). Specifically, the Court stayed “the rule adopted by the Commission prohibiting compensation to providers for minutes of use generated by equipment consumers received from providers for free or for less than $75.” For the purpose of maintaining the status quo until the court issues a final ruling in court proceedings No. 13–1246 and consolidated No. 13–1122, the Commission therefore seeks to extend OMB approval of OMB Control Number 3060–1182 for a period of three years.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This notice requests public comment on the FDIC’s request for extension of OMB’s approval of the Regulatory Capital Rules information collection more fully described below. OMB approved the ICR under emergency procedures for review and clearance in accordance with the PRA. The FDIC is not proposing any changes to the existing ICR at this time. A description of the collection and the current burden estimates follows.

Proposal to extend the following currently approved collection of information:

Title: Regulatory Capital Rules.

OMB Number: 3064–0153.

Affected Public: State nonmember banks, state savings associations, and certain subsidiaries of those entities.

Estimated Number of Respondents: Advanced approaches—8; Minimum capital ratios—4,571; Standardized approach—4,571.

Frequency of Response: Occasional.

Estimated Time per Response: Varied.

Total Estimated Annual Burden: 737,275 hours.

General Description of Collection:

This collection comprises the disclosure and recordkeeping requirements associated with minimum capital requirements and overall capital adequacy standards for insured state nonmember banks, state savings associations, and certain subsidiaries of those entities. The capital standards are consistent with agreements reached by the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision (BCBS) in “Basel III: A Global Regulatory Framework for More Resilient Banks and Banking Systems,” and with section 171 of the Dodd-Frank Act, which requires establishment of minimum risk-based and leverage capital requirements, and with section 939A of the Dodd-Frank Act, which requires the use of alternatives to credit ratings for calculating risk-weighted assets. The data is used by the FDIC to evaluate capital before approving various applications by insured depository institutions, to evaluate capital as an essential component in determining safety and soundness, and to determine whether an institution is subject to prompt corrective action provisions.

All comments will become a matter of public record.

Dated at Washington, DC, this 28th day of April 2014.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Need for and Use of the Information Collection

FHFA’s Monthly Survey of Rates and Terms on Conventional 1-Family Non-Farm Mortgage Loans, commonly referred to as the “Monthly Interest Rate Survey” or “MIRS,” is a monthly survey of mortgage lenders that solicits information on the terms and conditions on all conventional, single-family, fully amortized, purchase-money mortgage loans closed during the last five working days of the preceding month. The MIRS collects monthly information on interest rates, loan terms, and house prices by property type (i.e., new or previously occupied), by loan type (i.e., fixed- or adjustable-rate), and by lender type (i.e., mortgage companies, savings associations, commercial banks, and savings banks), as well as information on 15-year and 30-year fixed-rate loans. In addition, the survey collects quarterly information on conventional loans by major metropolitan area and by Federal Home Loan Bank district. The MIRS does not collect information on loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) or guaranteed by the Veterans Administration (VA), loans secured by multifamily property or manufactured housing, or loans created by refinancing another mortgage. The MIRS is the most comprehensive source of information on conventional mortgage rates and terms in the United States.

The MIRS originated with one of FHFA’s predecessor agencies, the former Federal Home Loan Bank Board (FHLBB) in the 1960s. Among other things, the FHLBB used data collected through the MIRS to derive its National Average Contract Mortgage Rate for the Purchase of Previously Occupied Homes by Combined Lenders (ARM Index), which was used by lenders to set mortgage rates on adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs). No statutory or regulatory provision explicitly required the FHLBB to conduct the MIRS. However, for a period in the early 1980s, federally chartered savings institutions were required to use the MIRS-derived ARM Index in setting interest rates on ARMs. Few, if any, loans from that period remain. After 1981, an unknown but likely very small proportion of lenders used the ARM Index to set interest rates on their new ARMs.

In 1989, Congress enacted the Financial Institutions Reform Recovery and Enforcement Act (FIRREA), which abolished the FHLBB and created the Federal Housing Finance Board to assume many of the FHLBB’s powers and responsibilities. FIRREA required
