History and Description of the Remains

At an unknown date, human remains representing, at minimum, 66 individuals (DU #s 6003, 6007, 6008, 6012, 6013, 6016-6053, 6057, 6075, 6135, 6165-6172, 6182, 6199, and 6401-6430) were removed from multiple unknown locations. The human remains came into the possession of the University of Denver Museum of Anthropology at an unknown date and were entered into museum collection records in 1987 or 1988. In 1988, all human and animal bones and casts in the possession of the Museum of Anthropology were moved from the Mary Reed Building to the Science Hall on the University of Denver campus. Museum staff believes these human remains were in the possession of the University of Denver Museum of Anthropology prior to the 1988 move and were catalogued as part of that move. No known individuals were identified. The four associated funerary objects (associated with DU #6199) are four animal teeth.

At an unknown date, human remains representing, at minimum, six individuals (DU #s 6061, 6068-6070, and 6181) were removed from multiple unknown locations. The human remains came into the possession of the University of Denver Museum of Anthropology between the 1930s and 1950s and were entered into museum collection records in 1987 or 1988. During NAGPRA Inventory research, previous museum staff linked these individuals to Dr. E.B. Renaud, who was at DU from the 1930s to the 1950s. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

At an unknown date, human remains representing, at minimum, 17 individuals (6601-6617) were removed from multiple unknown locations. The human remains were acquired by the University of Denver Department of Anthropology in 1982 from the Colorado Women's College. The human remains were acquired as teaching aids and used in Dr. Jonathan Haas's "dig" lab. The lab recreated an archeology site in the Science Hall basement and ran between 1983 and 1985. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

At an unknown date, human remains representing, at minimum, five individuals (DU #s 1995.1.5, 1995.1.9, 1995.1.10, 1995.1.12, 1995.1.14) were removed from multiple unknown locations. The human remains were part of the collection of Theodore Sowers. Mr. Sowers, a student of Dr. E.B. Renaud, graduated from the University of Denver with a BA in Anthropology in 1938. Following his death, Mr. Sowers' daughters, Katy Sickles and Jenny Bauer, inherited the collection. They donated the entire collection (over 3,000 catalog records) to the University of Denver Museum of Anthropology in 1995 to facilitate repatriation. No known individuals were identified. The eight associated funerary objects (associated with 1995.1.5) are five worked non-human bones, one worked horn, one animal tooth, and one black stone pipe.

At an unknown date, human remains representing, at minimum, two individuals (DU #s No number-Individual 1 and 2) were removed from multiple unknown locations. Previous museum staff first documented these human remains during the NAGPRA Inventory in 1995. There is no additional information associated with these individuals. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

The University of Denver Museum of Anthropology is a research museum with archeological collections focused in the southwestern United States. The 96 individuals described above have little to no documentation associated with them and no provenience information. Colorado has been their home for between 19 and 70 years.

Pursuant to 43 CFR 10.16, the Secretary of the Interior may make a recommendation for a transfer of control of culturally unidentifiable human remains and associated funerary objects. In September 2015, the University of Denver Museum of Anthropology requested that the Secretary, through the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Review Committee, recommend the proposed transfer of control of the culturally unidentifiable Native American human remains and associated funerary objects in this notice to Southern Ute Indian Tribe of the Southern Ute Reservation, Colorado and Ute Mountain Tribe of the Ute Mountain Reservation, Colorado, New Mexico & Utah. The Review Committee, acting pursuant to its responsibility under 25 U.S.C. 3006(c)(5), considered the request at its November 2015 meeting and recommended to the Secretary that the proposed transfer of control proceed. A January 2016 letter on behalf of the Secretary of Interior from the Associate Director, Cultural Resources, Partnerships, and Science, transmitted the Secretary's independent review and concurrence with the Review Committee that:

- The University of Denver Museum of Anthropology consulted with every appropriate Indian tribe or Native Hawaiian organization, and
- the University of Denver Museum of Anthropology may proceed with the agreed upon transfer of control of the culturally unidentifiable human remains and associated funerary objects to the Southern Ute Indian Tribe of the Southern Ute Reservation, Colorado and Ute Mountain Tribe of the Ute Mountain Reservation, Colorado, New Mexico & Utah.

Transfer of control is contingent on the publication of a Notice of Inventory Completion in the Federal Register. This notice fulfills that requirement.

Determinations Made by the University of Denver Museum of Anthropology

Officials of the University of Denver Museum of Anthropology have determined that:

- Pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001(9), the human remains described in this notice are Native American based on the broader collecting practices of the University of Denver Museum of Anthropology and the findings of a physical anthropologist employed by the University of Denver prior to November 1995.

- Pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001(9), the human remains described in this notice represent the physical remains of 96 individuals of Native American ancestry.

- Pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001(3)(A), the 12 objects described in this notice are reasonably believed to have been placed with or near individual human remains at the time of death or later as part of the death rite or ceremony.

- Pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001(2), a relationship of shared group identity cannot be reasonably traced between the Native American human remains and associated funerary objects and any present-day Indian tribe.

- Pursuant to 43 CFR 10.16, the disposition of the human remains and associated funerary objects will be to Southern Ute Indian Tribe of the Southern Ute Reservation, Colorado and Ute Mountain Tribe of the Ute Mountain Reservation, Colorado, New Mexico & Utah.

Additional Requestors and Disposition

Representatives of any Indian tribe or Native Hawaiian organization not identified in this notice that wish to request transfer of control of these human remains and associated funerary objects should submit a written request with information in support of the request to Anne Amati, University of Denver Museum of Anthropology, 2000 E. Asbury Avenue, Denver, CO 80208, telephone (303) 871-2687, email anne.amati@du.edu, by April 7, 2016. After that date, if no additional requestors have come forward, transfer of control of the human remains and associated funerary objects to the Southern Ute Indian Tribe of the Southern Ute Reservation, Colorado and Ute Mountain Tribe of the Ute Mountain Reservation, Colorado, New Mexico & Utah may proceed.

The University of Denver Museum of Anthropology is responsible for notifying The Consulted and Notified Tribes that this notice has been published.
